ROBERT F. BENSON
MEMORIAL CENTER
301

Imagine...You walk out of class, look up and see fronds of palm trees hovering over you. The sun shines above, leading you away from class and out onto the sunny patio by the Benson fountain. Luckily, you realize today is Friday, and you're ready to celebrate the weekend. Since you are finished with classes for the day, you consider your plans for the evening: the soccer game or a trip on the Caltrain to have dinner in San Francisco. You also consider the dance being held in the Bronco later on. While pondering, you are certain that the others surrounding you are probably thinking along the same lines. Students all around are enjoying the beautiful day, whether they are sitting having lunch with friends or cramming for a midterm next period. You come to realize how you all share the same Santa Clara traditions. Although it may be impossible to define what it feels like to be a Santa Clara Bronco, you are proud to share what it means to see Santa Clara through our eyes.

Scholar Programs, Study Abroad & Colleges

Class, homework, papers, mid-terms and finals. What to say about this? The sometimes redundant routine and fast-paced lifestyle of the quarter system keep students feeling like the "school" part of our college experience really seems to get in the way of our learning. The academies at Santa Clara University though, are much more than going to classes and getting the grades. The desire to learn on this campus is contagious and the programs and resources available make this a unique place to not only walk away from with a degree, but a foundation on which to further build our careers. On any given day when the weather cooperates, outside homework parties pack the school. Students study in almost any grassy spot available, and the interim libraries are always packed. Students seek learning opportunities abroad, and utilize resources on-campus to apply their skills after graduation through the Career Center. While it may seem as if midterms never end, and those 20-page research projects are always due at the same time, there are many ways to meet the demand of our courseloads, absorb the material with study groups and projects, and even have a little fun along the way.

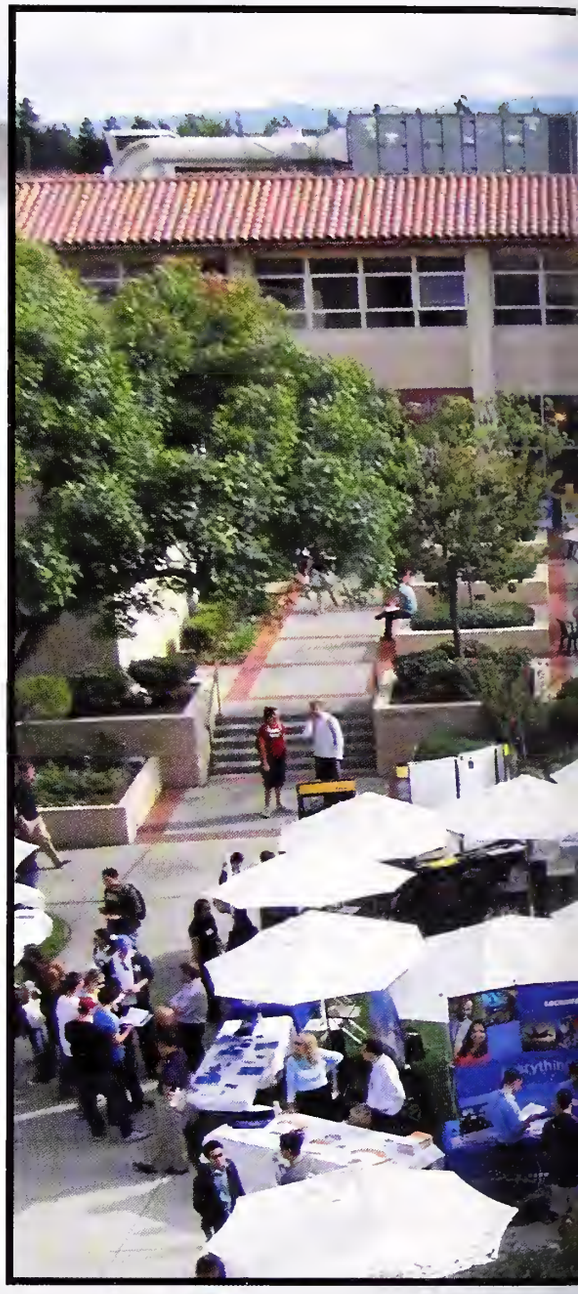
Career Center

Preparing For The Journey

Over the last several years, the process of obtaining a job hasn't changed much in spite of the introduction of employment websites and online resumes. In fact, according to Kathy Potter, Director of the Career Center, "It has been proven many times that the best way to a satisfying career is through professional and social networking." To the millennial generation, social networking means having friends on websites such as Facebook and Myspace. It is important to realize,as Potter says, that these websites are not professional social networks. However, the fact that having a good Myspace page won't get you the job of your dreams doesn't mean that it isn't important. In fact, in the last few years, these websites have begun to play a part in influencing employers. Even with the importance of networking in finding career opportunities, the initial process for SCU students seeking jobs these days often starts with what Potter calls a technical process requiring electronic resources, such as BroncoLink, to find internships and jobs as well as to search for potential companies online. However, eventually a face-to-face meeting will occur. The Career Center offers several events and techniques to help students with this critical face-to-face meeting. For example, the Center puts together an etiquette event every year to help students with some of the business interactions and vital social networking that they will encounter on their winding paths to careers. The event requires students to dress in professional attire and, after brief social networking over hor'deuves, sit down to a three- or four-course dinner. A guest speaker then helps the students learn the proper ways to meet business associates and have conversations over a meal. According to Potter, this kind of meeting can be critically important to gaining and maintaining employment. This is one of many ways that the Career Center helps students engage in a holistic approach to all aspects of managing careers.

> "The pursuit of a meaningful vocational journey that responds to the needs of society"

Although fairly infrequently, students have come into the Career Center their senior year and told Potter that they never knew that the Center existed. Potter says, "This is a scary thing...when students have been here for four years and have never even stopped by." The Career Center wants to help students understand all aspects of career development, from self assessment through being successful in a career. It's part of the Center's mission in developing the whole person, of promoting "the pursuit of a meaningful vocational journey that responds to the needs of society."



The Career Center's goal is to prepare students not only for life the moment after graduation but beyond that time, into the "voyage" that is the ever-changing job market. To that end, the Career Center also offers support to alumni. The career journey may start during college, but it goes far beyond the student's time at SCU.

A New Vision of Success:
Leavey School of Business

Embedded in the heart of the Silicon Valley, Santa Clara University's Leavey School of Business continues to hold a reputation for excellence. With more than 150 years of success, the Business School has developed a variety of strong programs that offer six academic departments including Accounting, Economics, Marketing, Management, Finance, and Operations and Management Information Systems. Within the Leavey School of Business numerous established professors offer knowledge gained through personal experience from their own successful endeavors. This year, construction on the new building progresses as our business program continues to be in the top five percent in the nation

A common sight outside of Kenna Hall: business students can bask in the sun between classes.

Prospects for a new building: The new Leavey School of Business will be about two and a half times the size of the present Kenna Hall.

Engineering

Designed For Success

Over the past several years it has been shown that having an internship while in the School of Engineering can bring unprecedented benefits to graduates in the job market. For example, many Seniors in the School of Engineering acquire internships with firms located right here in Silicon Valley. A significant number of students, who began interning as Freshmen, continue after graduation as full-time employees. This kind of hands-on experience for Engineering students allows them to understand how to apply the skills learned at the University on a day to day basis. The Career Center works closely with students in the Engineering Program to connect them with internships meaningful in their field. This partnership has proven to be invaluable to students.

Another beneficial outlet for Seniors is the Senior Design Conference. Held annually, this conference, hosted by the School of Engineering, allows students to apply their knowledge of Engineering and to present their projects to the faculty, the alumni and to fellow students.

This year the Engineering Department infused Santa Clara with an electrifying sense of accomplishment and pride with their merited third place win at the 2007 Solar Decathlon. Helping the team achieve the third place rank was Professor Mark Aschheim with his Bamboo I-Beam Technology. This eco-friendly solution to steel I-Beams has proven to be both highly effective and visually stunning. It wasn't an easy road for the Decathlon Team though. Starting off in 18th place after an initial judging of the building's architecture, many were unsure of how things would pan-out. But the Engineering students knew well that the hard work they had put into the project was sure to pay off with a high ranking and they were right when Santa Clara got 3rd place! All of Santa Clara is grateful for the tremendous effort that the Engineering Team put into this important project. Thank you!

Phi Beta Kappa

The Phi Beta Kappa Society, the oldest honor society in the United States, was founded in 1776. The Society celebrates outstanding academic achievement and breadth of study in the liberal arts and sciences. Fewer than 10 percent of the nation's institutions of higher learning have Phi Beta Kappa chapters. The Pi of California chapter at Santa Clara University was established in 1977. Seniors initiated into the Pi of California must earn a cumulative grade point average of 3.7 or above while taking a challenging mix of courses in mathematics, the natural and social sciences, the humanities and foreign language.

Special Academic Programs

Santa Clara University undoubtably has resources, and continually strives to provide the most possible opportunities for students. In addition to a degree from each of Santa Clara's respeetive colleges, each school offers additional programs, eertifieations and/or honors that subsequently adds even more value to students' degrees, as well as provide networking and professional advancement opportunities. Within the College of Arts & Sciences, graduates are awarded admission into a national honor society called Phi Beta Kappa. In the Leavey School of Business, students with outstanding academic records are invited to join ACE--an extracirricular program decidated to networking, career opportunities, and focused on serviee-- and/or the Leavey Scholars program, which is the honors college within the business school curricuium. Leadership and Entrepreneurship Certifieations are also available, and admission to nationally recognized Beta Gamma Honor Soeiety is awarded. In the Schoolof Engineering, Cooperative Education is a program that provides a benefieial exposure to industrial work, in eombination with classroom studies. Student organizations also provide a plaee to pursue more specifie interests within Engineering, including Association for Computing Machinery, Institute of Eleetrical & Eleetronic Engineers, and Engineering Business Alliance. Clearly, Santa Clara aims to make every scholarly and professional ambition possible with this multitude of additional academic programs.

Leavey School of Business

ACE Program

Throughout the four-year ACE program, students participate in focused exploration of their leadership abilities, enhance their development of professional skills, and receive special opportunities to network, reflect, and expand personal and professional horizons. The curriculum is designed to provide opportunities to connect with business executives, faculty, staff, and alumni during seminars, workshops, and lectures. In addition, skill-building field trips and team-building activities are incorporated into every year of the ACE program.

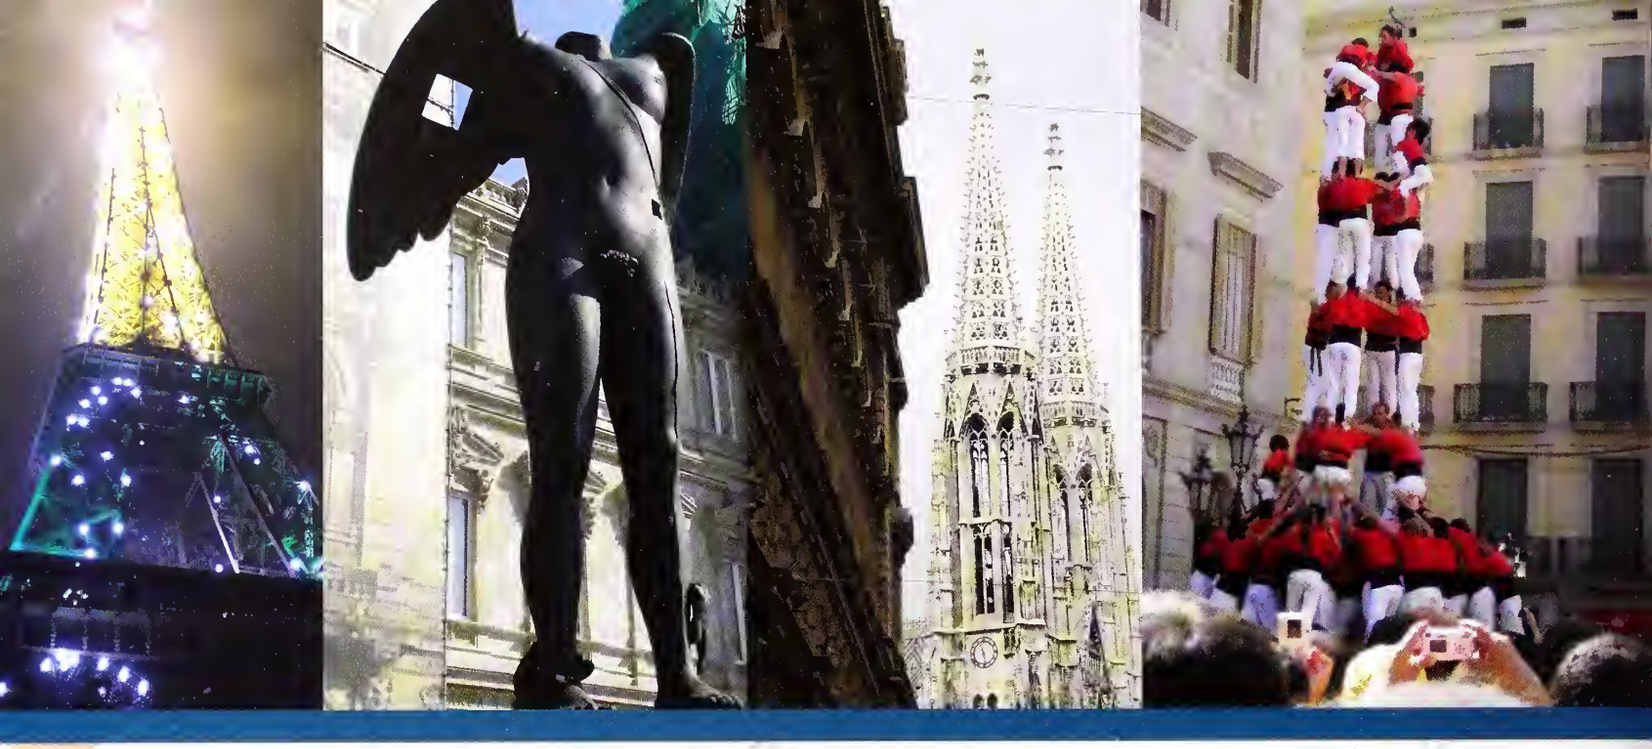
Leadership Competency Certificate

This certification was implemented to support the University's mission of "educating leaders for a just and humane world." The program consists of three courses, and provides business students the opportunity to learn from professionals of the business world, explore and reflect on their own leadership abilities, and translate these skills into post-graduation application.

School of Engineering

Cooperative Education

The Cooperative Education option integrates classroom work with practical industrial experience. It provides alternate or parallel periods of college education with periods of practical training in industry. The industrial training is related to the field of study in which the student is engaged and often is diversified to afford a wide range of experience. The objective of cooperative education is to provide students with the opportunity, through this interaction of study and work experience, to enhance their academic knowledge, to further their personal work experience, and to learn how to work effectively with others.



Study Abroad

The Time of Your Life

They are not your average american tourists. They are not adorned with neon fanny packs, unnecessarily large visors, grandpa sunglasses, and comfortable (but not always fashionable) walking shoes. They do not have a gigantic laminated traveler's map that knocks whoever ventures too close to the ground. Our Santa Clara study abroad students travel across the vast planet to experience, learn from, and acclimate to a culture very different and foregin to their own. Yet, over a fourth month period, these students not only adapt to their city and country, but become a part of it. They return to "the States" with millions of stories, souvenirs, and pictures, but what they left in their perspective countries is a legacy and name of Santa Clara University.

Campus Life and Traditions

Our college years come and go so quickly, and the events that wind up defining our year and experiences suddenly become merely fond memories. It's hard to remember everything that occurs in a year; with sports games almost every weekend, RLC activities, Bronco dances and concerts, vacations with friends, or the simple nights just relaxing with housemates are among the many day-to-day activities that provide us the memories of our college experience at Santa Clara University. APB and the Community Councils are busy once again this year organizing concerts and RLCA planning interactive dorm activities. Construction on campus is apparent, and the idea of a brand new library and business school is becoming a reality that students anticipate. Even life off our rose-laiden campus can be one that through the years continues to provide the same kind of memories, including where students chose to travel in the Bay Area, participating in unofficial student traditions, and passing down legendary houses from year to year. Events during the year affect our lives, mold our attitudes, create our memories, and characterize the year. They bring us together, bring out our best, and give us something to look forward to. Even if that particular event or tradition means giving up a night that could be used to write that paper, the experience is worth it!

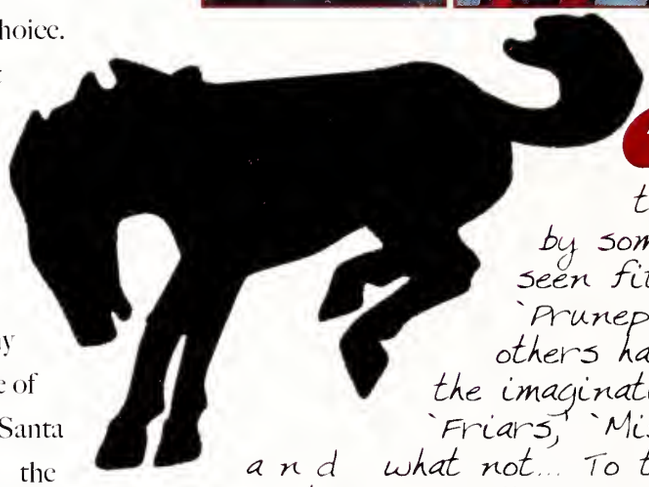
What's In A Name?

THE CREATION OF THE ONE AND ONLY BRONCO...

THE BRONCOS WERE NOT ALWAYS what they are today. Today when we hear SCU fans screaming "Go Broncos!" we do not normally stop and ponder what defines a Santa Clara University Bronco. Why are we the Broncos? Do you know the origination of the Santa Clara University sports teams' nickname? Why red and white? In 1891 red and white were chosen as the school colors. Forty years later, a rousing debate erupted between two priests, T.J. O'Connell class of 1892 and Patrick Foote, S.J., over the origins of that choice. What seems to be clear is that some teams wore red and white in the 1880s and that the student body petitioned for that combination of colors to be designated as the official school colors. But why Red and White? In a 1932 issue of the student newspaper "The Santa Clara", O'Connell suggests the colors honored the Sacred Heart. Y' Foote replies that red and white were the colors of the Bear Flag of California and he "led the students of the pioneer college in California to adopt them." O'Connell counters, "I remember very clearly that in the meeting no mention whatever was made of the Bear Flag." Foot has the final word: "The colors were at first chosen for the teams merely because of their pleasing appearance."

Proud Broncos sport SCU gear of all sorts



"We have been dubbed the 'Missionites' by some; others have seen fit to label us the 'Prunepickers'; and still others have stretched the imagination to call us 'Friars,' 'Missions,' 'Padres,' and what not... To the winner, Santa Clara will give a cash prize of five dollars.
– Student report, "The Santa Clara," Feb. 26, 1923

"WANTED–A NAME FOR THE VARSITY: STANFORD HAS HER CARDINALS, CALIFORNIA HER GOLDEN BEARS, AND SANTA CLARA MAY PROFIT BY THEIR EXAMPLE."
-GEORGE GIACOMINI AND GERALD MCKEVITT

"The Bronco is a native western piece of living dynamite; not any too large, it is true, but hard as nails and always game to the core... How about it, students? Let's adopt it."
– Student appeal, "The Santa Clara", Nov. 1923

"THE REAL BRONCO IS CLOSELY IDENTIFIED WITH THE OLD SANTA CLARA MISSION DAYS OF THE PADRES, WHEN LARGE HERDS OF CATTLE ROAMED THEIR LANDS AND ANNUAL ROUNDUPS WERE HELD. THE BRONCO'S DISTINCTIVE TRAITS TYPIFY ALL WE COULD WISH FOR IN AN ATHLETIC ORGANIZATION."

Now & Then... Changing Traditions for a New Era

WHO WOULD HAVE THOUGHT THAT SOME OF THE same unique traditions, once invented by past Santa Clara students, would remain to this day with current students? SCU day-to-day traditions such as scaling the dorms' interior walls, making weekly memories at the Hut, cramming in the Swig elevator, attending Late Night Bronco, driving to Tahoe and Santa Cruz, and running people over with skateboards on the way to class still exist within the Bronco community. In fact, these traditions help define who we are and why Santa Clara University is considered home. Whether it is the year 1988 or 2008, Santa Clara University is never a bore. Santa Clara students have always known how to make the most out of what they are given. The same organizations, such as ASSCU and The Redwood, are still alive and thriving since their start many years ago. The skill of juggling work with late hour fun has always been a trait of SCU Bronco students. Santa Clara's famous houses, such as Peach, Yellow, and Oasis house, have been handed down by generations of students. The same rhythmic pattern of footsteps to class, Benson, Safeway, and the mailbox fills each Santa Clara house with sounds unlike those of any other houses. Aside from the personality that Santa Clara University and its students has continued to uphold, there have been changes over the years as well. The football fans' roars that once filled Buckshaw Stadium have transformed into the vocal screams of Ruff Riders at the soccer and basketball play-offs. And though Leavey Business School continues to uphold a glorious reputation, it has exceeded its past goals and is evolving into more successful endeavor than ever imagined. And no matter how the conditions change, the past is what has made our community stronger and will lead the promising future ahead of us all. Old traditions undoubtedly attribute to the type of school, faculty, students, and community we have become. Santa Clara University's unique style, purpose, and customs will always be a part of us and help define who we are as the Santa Clara University community.

See through our eyes

What Makes Santa Clara Unique:

What comes to mind when you think of Santa Clara University? If you are an outsider, you automatically picture the beautiful Mission Church, surrounded by palm trees, hundreds of rose bushes and sunshine. If you are a student here, you think of much more. Amidst these breathtaking palms and famous roses, students and alumni recall the times they had with their friends of the weekend, or the activities that they look forward to. As freshmen we rememeber surviving living in Swig, eating Benson food daily and wandering to off-campus parties on Wednesday nights. Sophomore year, we look back on our days of another year in the dorms, making many more friends as we start focusing on our majors, and walking to local eateries with our closest friends. Junior year we study abroad and explore other cultures overseas, to return to our off-campus houses to perfect our game of beirut and study as hard as we play. Senior year we start to realize that four years really do go as quickly as everyone says, and our concentration on finishing our degrees while balancing time with friends as often as possible becomes a lifestyle that grows increasingly harder to leave. Santa Clara is a special place and the experiences and memories that we take from here are often times traditions passed down from those that walked through those rose gardens before us. It's these traditions that bring us together not only as students, but as close friends, and make Santa Clara a unique place to share. It is these tradtions that through students' eyes, define who we are as a Santa Clara community.

> "Santa Clara is a special place; the experiences and memories that we take from here are often times traditions passed down from those that walked through these rose gardens before."

"Wake Up, Swig!"

...a phrase that freshmen hate, yet seniors love. Swig residents have dreaded, but learned to live with, the fact that upperclassmen can finally exercise their power and seniority by waking up underclassmen in the middle of the night. This disruptive, yet rewarding tradition is one unlikely to phase out!

Live for the Night!

SENIOR Seniors make the most of every moment and continue to celebrate their upcoming graduation and final year by frequenting local bars with best friends!

Night Life through the Years

Santa Clara night life is one of close familiarity for students. Here, the famous phrase of "work hard, play hard" certainly holds true. As new freshmen fresh out of their parents' house populate dorms, night life is characterized by time with roommates, floor mates, cozy nights up 'til dawn and the occasional late night romp around Santa Clara. Sophomore year involves continual friendships and really getting to know other students on all sides of campus; it seems at this point that the fun nights are only getting started. Junior year is, for many students, spent abroad or getting settled into their houses and apartments. This off-campus move is the next step in preparing ourselves for the inevitable post-college "real world" that we all hear about. And somehow senior year creeps up. Fourth-year students wonder how time really did fly so quickly, and spend as much time together as possible before the big graduation. The classic locations for these gatherings are, naturally, C&J's on Wednesdays, The Claran on Thursdays, The Hut on Fridays, and Saturday's up for grabs. As night life changes through the years, one thing remains true: the memories we create and the friends that we make truly provide us with the means to celebrate our successes of the week, enjoy our friends, and have a lot of fun!

Finishing Touches

New Library & Business Building

Construction has taken over our campus, but it's quickly coming to an end. There's the new Learning Commons and Library on one side of campus and the new business building on the other side. It's incredible to finally see these projects near completion. Every day the new library and business building look slightly different and closer to completion. Both are mammoth projects that have been planned for over ten years. The new library can be found in the same place, where the Orradre library once was. It is 94,000 square feet larger than the old library. It has four levels rather than three. There are more study rooms and more study spaces for students. It encourages the use of new opportunities provided by information technology. The new business building on the other hand, has been relocated behind the Arts and Sciences building, with one side running along Franklin Street. The new business building is 2.5 times the size of Kenna Hall. Within the business building, there will be 80 offices for faculty, 12 break rooms, and a café. Both buildings are towering structures on campus. With a growing student population, our campus has desperately been in need of more space. The new Learning Commons and Library is set to open in spring 2008 and the new Leavey School of Business building is set to open in fall 2008.

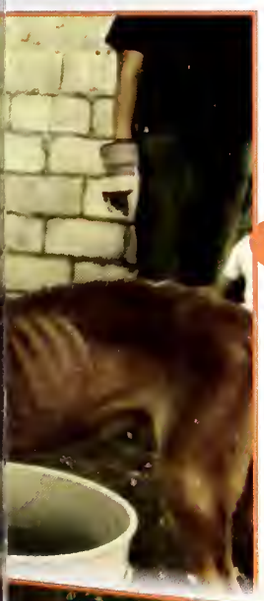
Santa Clarans Give Back



The Santa Clara Ignatian Center has opened its doors to assisting the less fortunate around the world thanks to the help of the school's charitable and socially aware students. The workers and volunteers have become catalysts for change and have inspired the lives of many. Through various programs, students are able to dedicate a few days to a few months in their work in various countries, or in cities right here in the United States. The Arrupe Partnership is another organization within the Ignation Center that connects students in certain classes, like language and communication, with different schools and agencies within Silicon Valley. Students are then able to apply what they learn from their classes directly into the community. The understanding and real life experience that students gain is an experience that a few hours a week in a classroom could never provide.

Senior Stories and Legacies

Every senior has left his or her mark on this campus, university, and community in unforgettable ways. Some of them are light-hearted memories of our seniors' antics while others are permanent fixtures and marks that no custodian could remove. Whatever tradition or momento it might be, they will all be appreciated and remembered. Some, though, may become as legendary as the Wednesday night parties. So the real question is, who will be first to streak through the new Santa Clara library?

Venturing out of "the Bubble"

Adventures & Weekend Getaways Near Santa Clara

The weekend: every student's favorite 2-day break luckily occuring 52 times a year! The stresses and successes of the week are rewarded by the weekend, and students often choose to venture outside of the "Santa Clara bubble." As students here, we have endless opportunities when it comes to exploring and adventures: Northern California has some of the best things to offer no matter what you're looking for. In the mood for some city stomping? San Francisco is only a 50 minute drive away offering world-class shopping, festive Giant's baseball games, Fisherman's Wharf strolling, and seeing the sites of Golden Gate Bridge, Alcatraz and Lombard Street. In the mood for more of a natural getaway? Santa Cruz is only 30 minutes away, offering the famous Boardwalk, surf shops, a quaint downtown, and numerous picturesque beaches. Monteray is just past Santa Cruz, and home of the famous Pebble Beach and 7-mile drive along the coast. Longer weekends are often spent three-four hours away in Lake Tahoe either skiing and snowboarding the world famous north and south lake resorts, sledding around with friends, or hanging out on the beach and river during the spring and summer. What about just a night out? No problem. Santana Row, downtown San Jose and Palo Alto are only a few minutes away and offer fun restaurants, unique shops, and varying atmospheres. No matter what your mood, there is a place for you to explore. Whether you drive there, take the Cal Train, or hop on the Bronco Bus, ways of celebrating the weekend around here are endless.

Lake Tahoe in all seasons!

Far Left: The Truckee river provides seniors Stephanie Howell, Hayley Rife, Dana Hoffman, and Claire Kollerer with sun, fun, and a beautiful change of scenery.

Left: During the winter season, seniors Jenna Myers and Elizabeth Godsey enjoy sledding in a snow strom in North Lake Tahoe.

The California Wine country is a popular destination for people all over the country, and for Santa Clara students there is no exception. Seniors Sarah Neuhoff, Tory Fraser and Narsai Tailo enjoy a glass at Sterling Vineyards in Calistoga Winery.

Only 3 hours away flows the American River. Ashley Bertolin, Madison Wood and Julie Erickson white river raft on one of the daily tours.

Activities & Organizations

STUDENTORGANIZATION'S, CLUBS, & RLC'S

THERE IS ALWAYS A PLACE FOR EVERYONE here,a place to meet others with similar interests, a place to lead, and a group of which to engage in activities that we are passionate about. Among some of these groups that are affiliated with the school are Student Chartered Organizations. APB keeps the tempo going with regular concerts, goings-on at the Bronco, and Broneo Bus trips around town, while The Santa Clara keeps students updated on the weekly happenings on and off-campus. AS, SCCAP, the Multicultural Center, The Santa Clara Review, KSCU, and The Redwood are also included with these CSO's. In addition to these university organizations are over 100 student-run clubs; this list of clubs goes well beyond intramural sports and areas of academia into groups for ethnic pride and dance. One can even find a group of which to join without leaving the comfort of where they live. Residential Learning Communities group students with similar interests in the dorms together so that they have the opportunity to take introductory classes and study together--another contributing factor of Santa Clara University's close-knit community. The mutitude of opportunities around campus are endless, and finding an organization of which to lead or to participate in is something the majority of students find themselves involved with on a daily basis. Whether diricetly or indirectly, our varying interests lead us to involvement, which provides services to our fellow students, and another outlet for us to exhibit our skills and passions.

> "Our varying interests lead us to involvement, which provides services to our fellow students, as well as just another outlet for us to exhibit our skills and passions."

Activities Programming Board

Fresh Faces, New ideas

In 1994, the Activities Programming Board (APB) was established as a student-run organization that plans and executes university-wide events for students to enjoy. The organization runs on the motto "Bringing SCU what they want, when they want it," says APB director, Natalie Cummins '08. The board meets once a week to brainstorm for new ideas, and plan and organize upcoming events. This year their goals are to heighten awareness and organize events for the whole student body to enjoy.

Fun in the Sun Carnival

APB welcomes a younger board. "With fresh faces bring new ideas," says Cummins. In addition to a younger board, two new positions have been established for the coordinators of the Bronco Bus, which makes trips to nearby hotspots including San Francisco, Santa Cruz and Lake Tahoe. Fall quarter brought new events such as Fall Carnival, College Double Date, and Speed Dating, all of which Cummins would like to become new traditions for APB. Several events, including frequent movie nights, comedy acts, and band nights, have also made fall quarter a new experience.

In collaboration with ASSCU, RLCA, and Ruff Riders, APB is also bringing back Homecoming, an old and dearly missed tradition of the past. Concert by Bone Thugs and a carnival are just a couple of ways that APB will contribute to Homecoming. Aside from all the new events, Cummins' main priority is to uphold the tradition of standing to their motto, in every way, shape, or form that they can.

Associated Students

'Go Broncos' Spirit

Associated Students of Santa Clara University was established in 1912. It is currently organized into four branches: Executive, Legislative, Judicial and Student Involvement. AS represents the students in front of the administration and makes sure the other organizations are doing what they have been chartered to do. Student involvement and leadership development through registered student organizations, university committees, positions, and active engagement within the Santa Clara community are greatly encouraged by Associated Students. "This year's administration seeks to implement a stronger sense of school spirit and tradition on campus," says Austin Woody, Student Body President. "This is a difficult and ambitious goal, but we have an extremely creative, ambitious, and passionate administration. We approach every task with a 'GO BRONCOS' spirit. Our understanding is that if we can create a stronger sense of tradition here on campus, students will realize that we are a part of something that is so much bigger than just our classes here and now. We hope that this understanding will create a stronger sense of school spirit. Thus, the desire to be a part of the community will increase student involvement." In keeping with the platform to strengthen school spirit and tradition, Associated Students has organized events such as RLC Spirit Competition and History Discussion with Professor Giacommini. Additionally, AS has hosted an "Office" marathon, self defense classes, Root-Beer Pong, two Senior Nights, Sophomore Housing Forum, and Junior Return from Abroad. In February, AS is bringing back Homecoming in collaboration with RLCA, APB, and Ruff Riders. Homecoming week will consist of a carnival, a concert with Bone Thugs-N-Harmony, and a pep rally followed by a Senior Night, featuring the Bell Brothers, Red and White Ball, and the Santa Clara vs. University of San Diego game. Now that is Bronco spirit.

Santa Clara Community Action Program

Action and Compassion

Established in 1965 during the Vietnam War and political activism, SCCAP was formerly known as the Santa Clara Christian Action Program. In the years to come, SCCAP changed its name to the Santa Clara Community Action Program, and focused its resources on volunteering and helping the community. It's been 42 years since its beginning, and SCCAP continual success attracts many volunteers to serve the community. "The goal of the SCCAP is to participate in creating a more humane and just world," says director Katy Erker '08. "Part of what SCCAP does is expose volunteers to new realities. They see the world as a bigger place." Another goal Erker has is bringing in a stronger sociological perspective this year, since she is a Sociology major. "By involving students, they can learn how social structures affect people on many levels," says Erker.

SCCAP is divided into four departments: Empowerment, Education and Mentoring, Homelessness, and Health and Disabilities. Each department offers a range of volunteering opportunities. Special Olympics and the Drag Show are a few of the vast amount of events offered. With so many people working in collaboration with one another, retreats are essential to bring the group together. "Building community is central. We want to be a presence, and to educate others of social justice and the injustices of the world," says Erker.

The Multicultural Center

Off to a Unique Start

The Multicultural Center, also known as the MCC, began the year with a unique start. Unlike past years, in which the director is elected in the spring and starts the year in the fall, this year the MCC started without a director or staff. Collaboration and effort among the nine clubs within the MCC were vital to keeping the Center up and running. The struggle to find a director was difficult, but by the end of October, Judy Kuo '08 was selected to run the MCC.

Started in 1985, the MCC, which once housed six clubs, now has nine: Arab Cultural Society (ACS), Asian Pacific Islander Student Union (APSU), Barkada (the Filipino student union), Chinese Student Association (CSA), Igwebuike (the African-American organization), Intandesh (the South Asian organization), Ka Mana'o O Hawai'i (Celebrating the Spirit of Hawaii), MEChA El Frente (the Chicano/Latino Organization), and Vietnamese Student Association (VSA). "The MCC strives to educate the campus about multiculturalism through fun social events," says Kuo. "The goal of the MCC this year is to branch out and reach the general campus population with consistent events throughout the year." Expect to see the MCC uphold traditional events, such as MCCBeary's, an end of year award show, and Global Village, a community-wide event that shares diversity of cultures through performances, food, music, games and more. As for new traditions, Kuo would like to try new things. MCC 101, a night of cultural workshops, is just one of the new events the MCC plans to host. "This year has been different so far. It's a good opportunity to try new things."

2 The APSU officers prepare for Boat Dance, a semi-formal event that takes place on a boat in the San Francisco Bay during Fall quarter.

3 Club meetings for Ka Mana'o are always packed with members because of their activities.

The Executive Board of the Multicultural Center meets weekly on Thursday nights to discuss and plan upcoming events. E-board consists of: Marty Sanchez, Jaison Mathew, Kekauilani Zukeran-Kerr, Eugene DiBenedetto, Alicia Nguyen, Alex Cheung, Judy Kuo, Rosie Chow (proxy for Lillian Ching), Nader Kawadri, and Ruben Dario Villa.

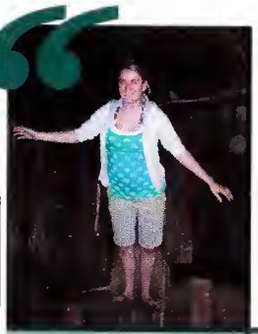
The Redwood:

Remembering the Year so you don't have to

Another year for the Redwood yearbook staff, and they have never been better. This year, the yearbook staff is working hard to create a yearbook that will be memorable for years to come. With the construction of the library almost complete, and a new era of Santa Clara University beginning, the Redwood has a lot to talk about in the 104th volume of the book. Meetings on Monday nights and office hours for the yearbook team will enable them to work their hardest on producing the most amazing yearbook to date. Throughout the year, the staff discusses the layouts, copy, photographs, etc. in order for the book to appeal to the entire Santa Clara community. Though it may be impossible to capture every memorable event of the 2007-2008 academic year, the Redwood staff attempts to create a means by which people will remember this year in the near and distant future. This year's theme, "Through our eyes," captures all of the Santa Clara traditions and advantages we sometimes seem to overlook. The Redwood's goal this year is to create a yearbook that will remind all SCU students how truly lucky we are.

The Redwood staff attends an annual retreat to discuss short and long term plans for the yearbook. The staff decides on future themes and decision making techniques for the entire staff. This year, The Redwood had their Fall retreat in Santa Cruz where they worked together to decide these future goals. During office hours, members of The Redwood staff design the book that will create memories for years to come.



"It's rewarding to think that what we do is bigger than just this year. We're keeping memories for people to remember 50 years from now. How people remember this year is in our hands. We get to continue the traditions of Santa Clara but on our own terms."

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY'S weekly newspaper, distributed every Thursday in downstairs Benson, is available for students, faculty, and anyone else interested in reading about the present thoughts, concernns, and issues facing SCU and our broader world. During the academic year, copies of The Santa Clara can be found at Benson Memorial Center and other campus locations. When asked what the Santa Clara Newspaper's main goals were for the 2007-2008 academic year, Jeremy Herb, editor of the newspaper, noted that, "our main goal has always been to inform the campus about weekly issues that are in the shadows of Santa Clara students." However, aside from these specific goals, the Santa Clara continues to take part in normal weekly responsibilities. A normal week for the staff includes Sunday's budget meetings when the staff decide on stories to write about, Monday's meetings for editors, Tuesday's declaration of finalized information, and finally, Wednesday's final edits of sports news. Overall, the Santa Clara staff hopes to make known to Santa Clara students all of the effort that goes into the Santa Clara, and hopes that the entire SCU community will benefit from the stories they continue to share.

Santa Clara Review

A Literary Publication

The Santa Clara Review is Santa Clara's very own literary magazine. The bi-annual magazine is comprised of national submissions from staff and community members. There are several paid positions and opportunities in the areas of poetry, fiction, non-fiction, art, and management. Students are encouraged to submit their pieces for publication. This year, many members from the Santa Clara Review staff attended the annual AWP (Associated Writers and Writing Programs) convention in New York City where they promoted the Santa Clara Review. The Santa Clara Review hosted their first ever writing and arts retreat in April. The weekend retreat was for both student writers and visual artists and allowed participants to create, workshop, and discuss their projects and crafts with other guests. The Fall/Winter issue, which featured interviews with novelist Katharine Noel and PostSecret creator Frank Warren, was released on January 25th, while their second issue came out in late Spring. Aside from all of their newly established annual goals, the Santa Clara Review also continued to hold open-mics and ran a weekly practicum for students. The practicum was for students interested in reviewing submissions and learning about the editing and publishing process as a whole. Overall, according to Julianne Jigour, "the Review is committed to fostering the development of students' literary skills, both in editing and creative writing, and is dedicated to supporting a community for students passionate about the arts."

There was a great show at the Publication Party in January 2007. These parties serve to hype up the release of the book and appreciate the hard work of both the staff and the included artists.

KSCU

THE EVOLUTION OF UNDERGROUND SOUND

THE STUDENT-RUN KSCU HAS DONE MORE than occupy the empty space in the Swig basement. Over the years, Santa Clara University's radio has become an organization that provides students with tickets to concerts, movies, as well as giving them a good show to listen to. KSCU held a KSCU Halloween Night at the Bronco this past fall as well as other promotions throughout the year with live music by Santa Clara's very own DJs. KSCU welcomes the music of deserving artists unrecognized by mainstream radio. KSCU is a non-profit station sponsored by businesses in the Santa Clara area in hopes of providing entertainment to Santa Clara students and the surrounding area. This year KSCU has gone through an entirely new reconstruction of the radio station. One of KSCU's main goals for 2007-2008 year is to continue rebuilding the organization into a more well-recognized group on campus. Due to the staff's great effort and concentration, KSCU will continue to expand the musical knowledge and interests of Santa Clara students. The organization also hopes to create a more closely connected community, through the value of music, throughout the Santa Clara campus.

Residential Learning Communities (RLC's) are about connections.

Swig Hall

Cyphi

WHO'S SO FLY, CYPHI

Cyphi is the largest and newest RLC at Santa Clara. The RLC debuted in Fall 2007 quarter as a combination of Cypress and Delphi. The Cyphi RLC is about environmental sustainability and the arts. Housed in the tallest building on campus, Cyphi students live in Swig Hall. This RLC gives its students opportunities to go on outdoor events in order to enhance their understanding of global and local environmental issues. It is also a place for sutdents who are intrested in the arts and communication to share intrests and ideas with other students.

Alpha

Western Culture

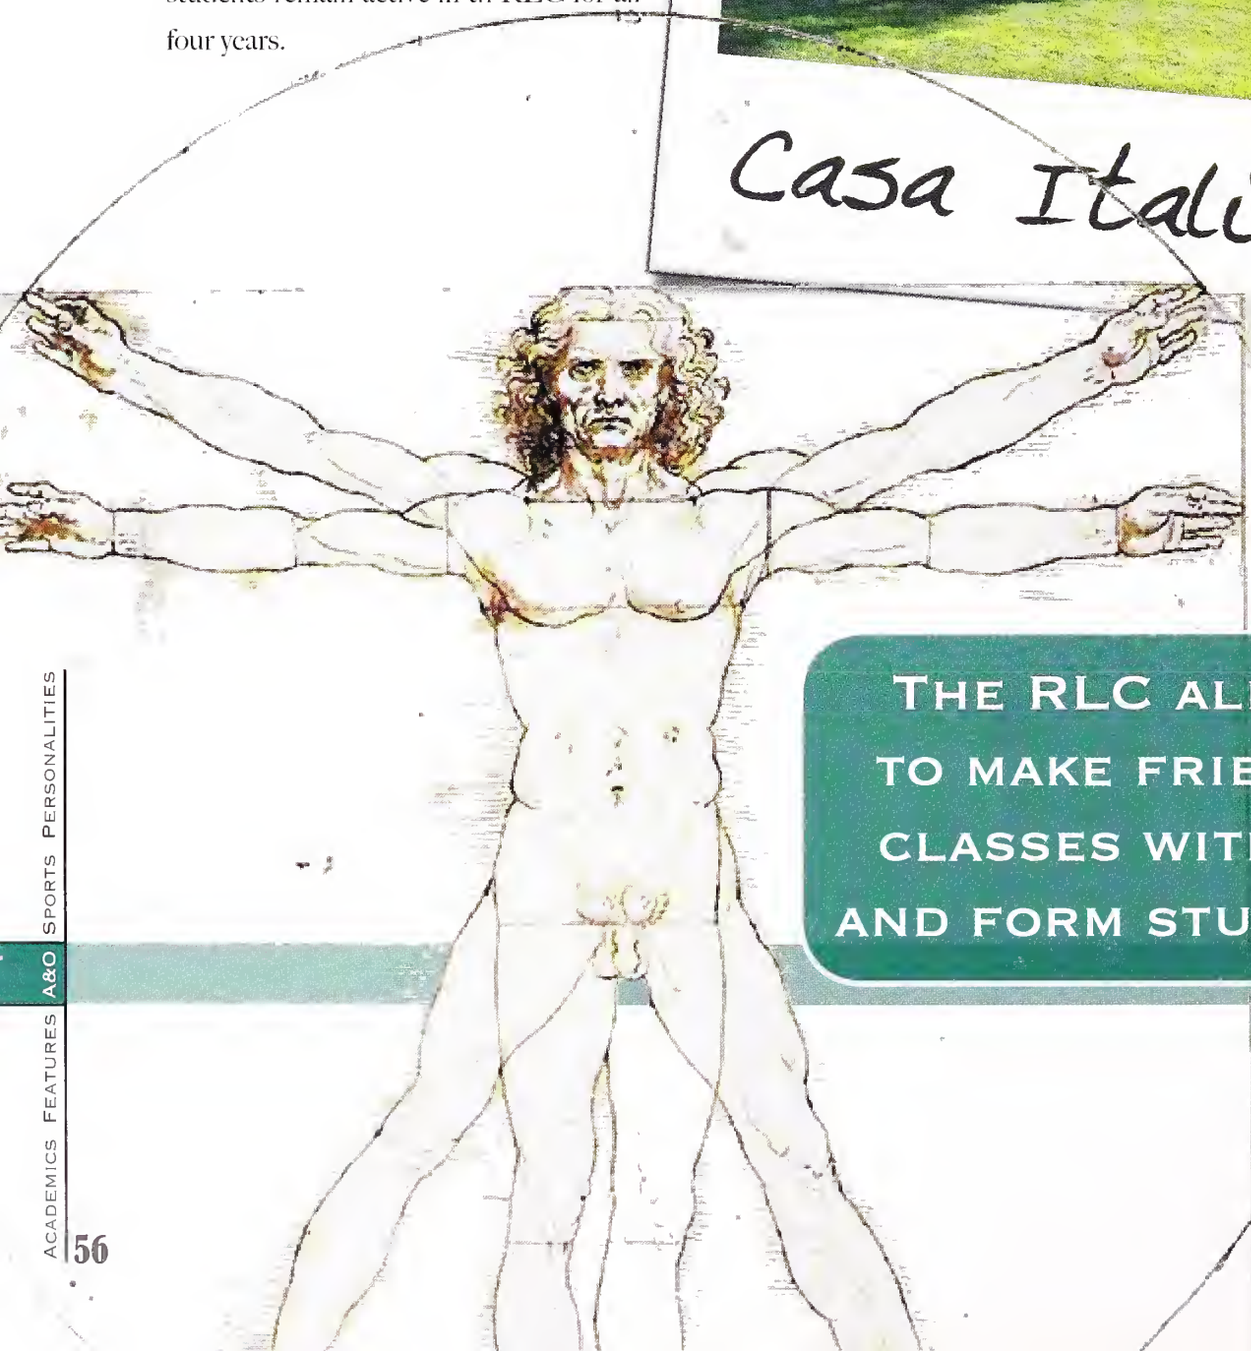
The Alpha RLC is the longest running RLC at Santa Clara University. This learning community is based around the studies of western culture and humanities. Students in the Alpha RLC take courses in art history, philosphy, and ethics together. Outside of the classroom, one would regulalry see Alpha students talking about morality, ethics, and philosphy, as well as working beyond the campus on projects to help underfunded schools and impovershed communities. The Alpha RLC tries to make sure that both the needs of the individual and their peers are met.

daVinci

Inspired By Antiquity

The daVinci RLC is focued on the study of both art and engineering. Inspired by the great Leonardo daVini, students in this RLC connect with one another through an intrest in science, mathematics, and engineering. Students in the daVinci RLC are also very intrested in Irtalian Heritage, and host festivities and events in the Italian tradition. The daVinvi students are encouraged to stay together for their four years at Santa Clara. Many students remain active in th RLC for all four years.

Casa Italiana



The RLC allows you to make friends, take classes with friends and form study groups.

Loyola

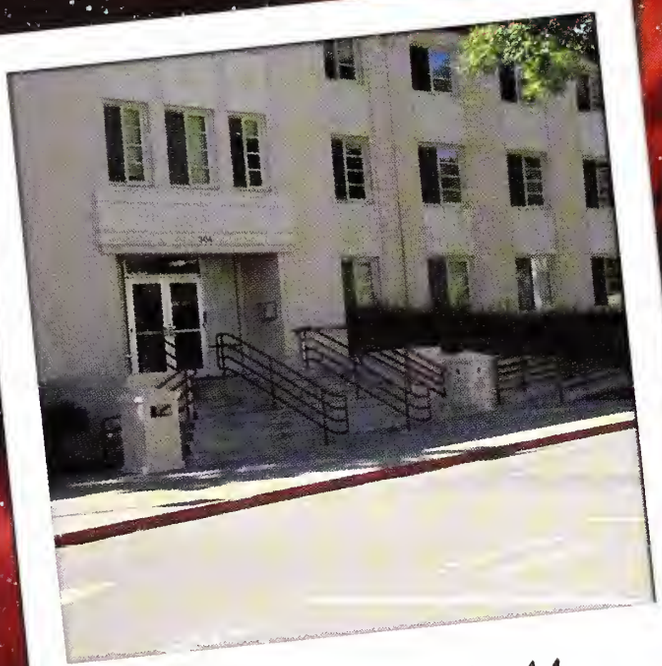
Changes Through Faith

The Loyola RLC houses a group of students who are interested in themes of faith and justice. Loyola explores issues about the place of faith in the modern world, and answers questions such as 'what is social justice?' Students who are in the Loyola RLC take classes in ethics, religion, and art history together, and use their shared knowledge of these subjects to explore and analyze the roles of faith in society. The RLC meets every Monday evening at a community dinner where students take an active role in planning future events. The RLC is a four-year learning community. This long-term RLC allows for deeper and richer understandings of the world through the shared knowledge of upper-classmen.

Sobrato Hall

Unity UNITED WE STAND

The Unity RLC is a four-year learning community open to all undergraduates. The RLC seeks to generate a deeper understanding and appreciation of diversity as a means for social and civic engagement. Students in the Unity RLC take classes together that foster the understanding of diversity. Unity members go on trips together in order to share experiences as well. Trips have included a visit to the Angel Island Immigration Station, lectures on Japanese calligraphy, as well as various scholars who have visited SCU for lectures. Creating a positive and engaging social environment is also an important part of Unity. Members of the RLC have organized movies out on the lawn, as well as trips to the ice rink to play broom ball.



Walsh Hall

McLaughlin Hall

RLC's facilitate the transition to University life for new Students.

Bellarmine Hall

Campisi Hall

Communitas

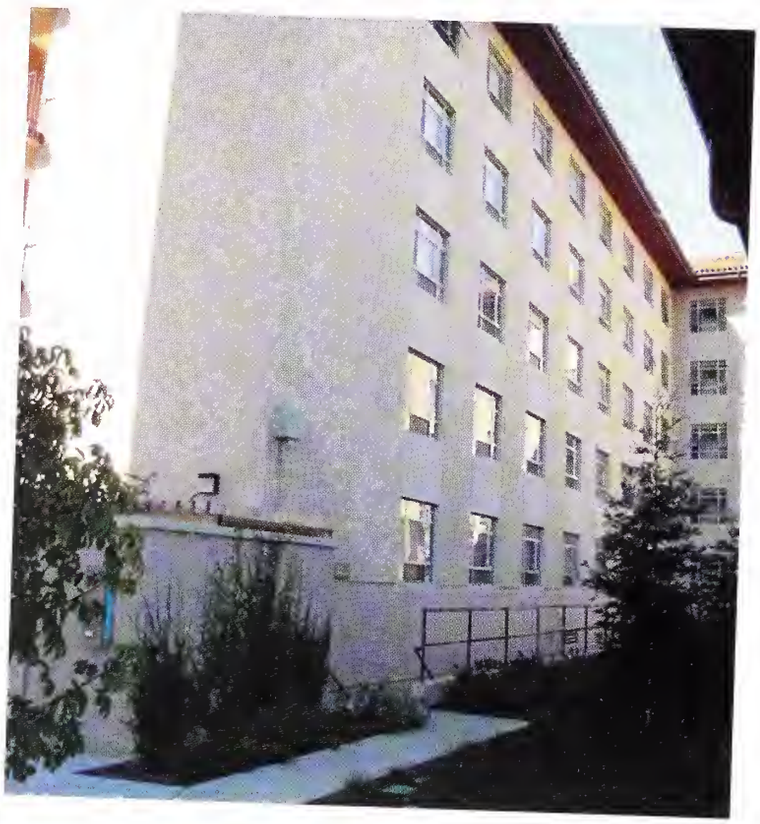
All For One And One For All

The Communitas RLC explores themes such as individualism, community and citizenship in order to create a learning community that thrives through its ability to make a difference by means of group efforts. Communitas tries to be a place where all the students know each other. Knowing your neighbors, floor-mates, and fellow Communitas members is an essential part of the RLC experience. When members of the RLC meet, they often discuss how different communities have balanced rights among their citizens for the common good. The RLC tries to have each of its participants actively examine the world around them in an attempt to understand and better their own lives as well as the lives of everyone in the community.

Modern Perspectives

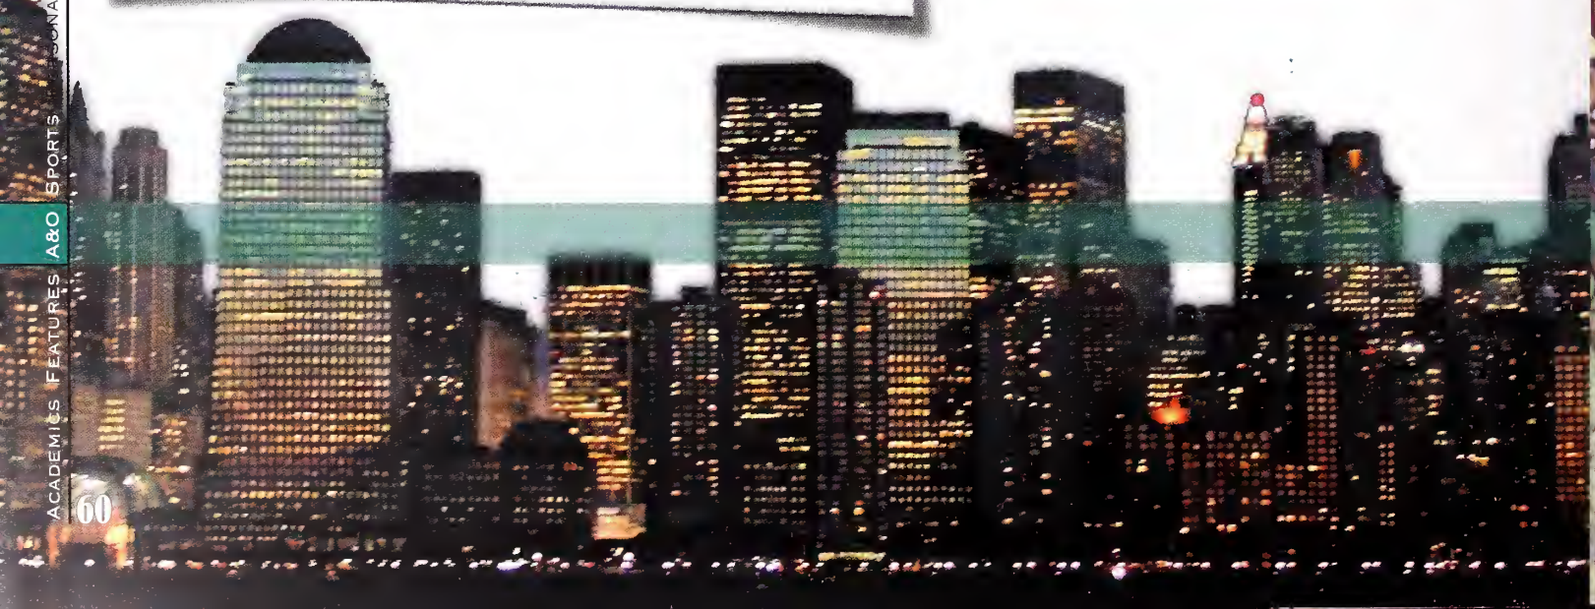
Addressing The 21st Century

Modern Perspectives places students into a range of classes including economics, sociology, and politics in order to generate a better understanding of the world in the 21st century. The RLC participates in a wide variety of activates such as week-long immersion trips across the world. Modern Perspectives has organized a number of other social activities such as pizza and politics night, the battle of the sexes, and even behind the scenes trips to the San Jose Shark's hockey games.



Dunne Hall

RLC's allow you to share what you've learned with others in your housing.



Xavier FAITH AND JUSTICE

Xavier Residential Learning Community strives to recognize the world as it is today. Students in the Xavier RLC look at the modern world and try to find solutions to global issues and problems using a 21st century framework. Xavier is for students who want to make a difference in the world by means of the Jesuit Tradition: the integration of faith and justice. Over the last couple years, Xavier students have built houses in Mexico and also spent time collaborating on humanitarian projects around the world. The Xavier RLC also seeks to create a positive social experiences for their students. The elected student leaders of the RLC have put together sporting events and social gatherings in attempt to generate a positive and cohesive college experience.

So Many Clubs...

Student Organized Clubs on Campus

With close to 75 student organized clubs on campus, it is hard to find a cause that students haven't thought of. From book clubs to multicultural clubs to improv- comedy, if there is student interest, there is a club to prove it. Clubs are one of the greatest ways for students to express themselve around campus by getting together with a group of students who share interests and making a space for themselves on campus. The MCC hosts a total of 9 different multicultural clubs , which are geared towards promoting knowledge of and celebrating different cultures. These clubs include Arab Cultural Society, Asian Pacific Student Union, Barkada (Filipino), Chinese Student Association, Igwebuike (Pan-African), Intandesh (South Asian), Ka Mana'o O'Hawaii, MEChA=El Frente (latino), and the Vietnamese Student Association. Like all clubs, this club has open membership to the entire Santa Clara Community. Simply by going through an application process, students are invited to create clubs to celebrate their passions, and through these clubs have sparked some great ideas and community movements of which they should be proud. This section aims to highlight a few of the great clubs on campus and the causes for which they are working.

> If there is a student interest, there is a club to prove it.

Psychology Club

The Psychology Club provides opportunities for students who are interested in psychology to meet people with similar interests and to gain knowledge and experience in both the science and practice of psychology. By doing so, leaders are created for the future who have a psychological understanding of society and give students valuable career development experience.

Inoperable Humor: SCU Improvisational Comedy

The improvisational comedy troupe has two goals: to bring humor to people's lives, especially their own, by practicing and performing improvisational comedy, and to provide an alternate form of late-night entertainment to the SCU community.

The main objective of Retail Studies Association is to provide students with the qualifications to enter the industry in fields such as buying, e-commerce, management, and global sourcing. The summer internship experience also provides students with valuable exposure.

Asian Pacific-Islander Student Union

Asian Pacific-Islander Student Union aims to promote fellowship and unity between Asian and Pacific Islander students and people interested in the Asian Pacific-Islander cultures.

Barkada

Barkada is a club which promotes awareness of the Filipino community in the Santa Clara University community.

INTANDESH - Member Chandni Adiani explains: "I initially chose to be a part of Intandesh my freshman year because I wanted to get involved and participate in activities pertaining to the South Asian culture. A year's experience with the club evoked more passion within me, and motivated me to step up to an officer role my sophomore year, and then to President this school year. This club is really important to me because I love using my passion to educate others about the many different traditions, celebrations, food, music, and dance that come from South Asian cultures."

Intandesh

ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION - This club's goal is to unify students about the diverse field of accouting, and to initiate intellecutal and social programs for accounting students. The association hosts many events on and off campus to meet firms in Silicon Valley, providing extensive leadership and career opportunities.

Accounting Association

GERMAN CLUB - This association of Santa Clara University promotes German culture, language, and activities. The goal is to further the interest of all things German on the Santa Clara University Campus.

German Club

IGWEBUIKE (PAN-AFRICAN) - Igwebuike strives to set good examples for one another, as well as for the African-American community, and to create awarenes for the greater Santa Clara Universiy community.

Salsa Clara

HEALTHY HEART CLUB - This is a new club on campus. HHC has 3 main goals: (1) Educate students on the proper ways to take care of the heart and the factors that lead to heart disease; (2) raise money for the American Heart Association; and (3) create more fun events while accomplishing the first two goals. Pictured above: participants at the club's kickball tournament Kick Start Your Heart.

GREEN CLUB - Members of this club are passionate about finding ways to live in a manner that is conscious of all the living things our daily decisions affect.

SALSA CLARA - Members of Salsa Clara perform for the SCU and surrounding communities with various types of Latin dance forms, showcasing the culture and talent of SCU students.

VIETNAMESE STUDENT ASSOCIATION - This group strives to promote unity among students, and promote the appreciation for cultural diversity at SCU, while up holding and honoring the Vietnamese cultures and traditions.

CHINESE STUDENT ASSOCIATION - This club aims to educate issues regarding diversity, and encourage further understanding of Chinese and Asian culture through social events, community service, and activities, which can be provided to all students at Santa Clara University.

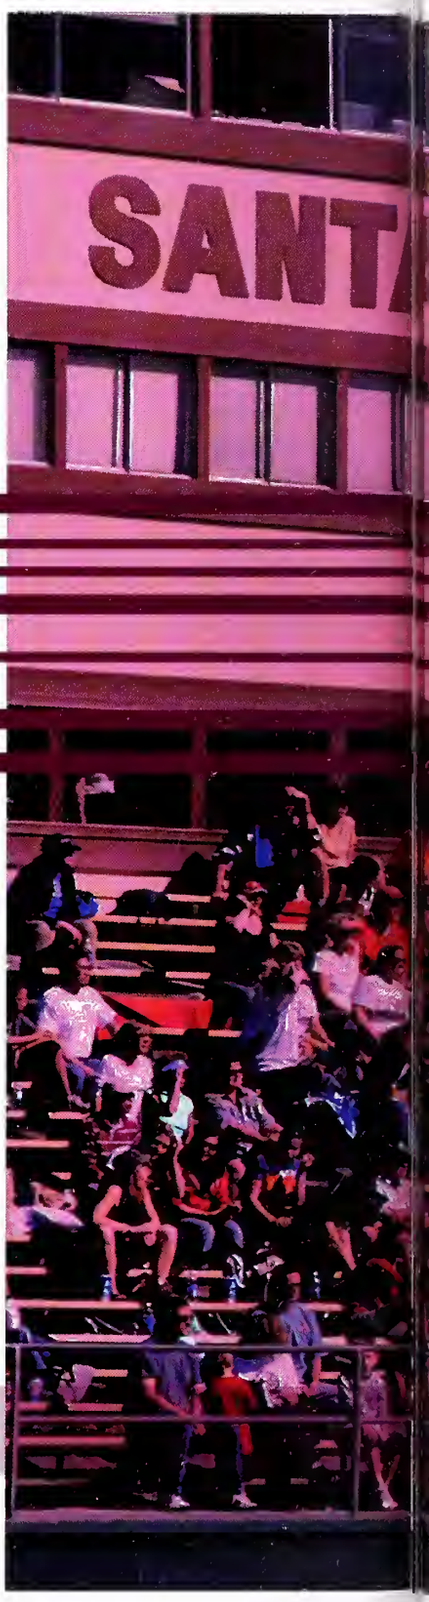
Sports

SPORTS ALWAYS HELP DEFINE A university; Santa Clara University has been known to have our shining moments. With basketball, soccer, baseball, and so many more, we have many chances to shout out how much we love our school. Our Ruff Riders are always there to support our teams, ready with cheers and singing our fight song, along side the Pep Band, Cheer, and Dance Team. There are even those fans who have been known to paint their faces in red, black, and white stripes to show how spirited Bronco's really are. Many new club sports have formed over the years; there are currenly 18 club sports and 19 teams affiliated with the NCAA. From hockey to equestrian to Ultimate Frisbee, there are plenty of opportunities to strut your stuff on the field... or court... or rink. Intramurals are always a blast and a good way to get some friendly lighthearted competition in too. The variety of sports played at Santa Clara University has certainly expanded, even in the past few years. No matter your interest, you are sure to find a sports organization to participate in.



"With our basketball, soccer, baseball, and so many more teams, we never run out of opportunities to shout out how proud we are to be Broncos."

A CLARA UNIVERSITY

Dance Team

"Dance team has helped me perfect my dance technique and beyond that, taught me about dedication, commitment, leadership, and spirit that I will forever take with me. -Genevieve Horvilleur, Co-Captain"

THINK YOU'VE GOT TALENT? WELL THIS team certainly does have talent. With better moves than you could find on "So You Think You Can Dance", the Dance Team lights up the floor at Basketball games, off campus events, and even the Bronco Bash. These 20 dancers work themselves tired each week with practices three times a week, and it definitely pays off when game time comes. Senior Genevieve Horvilleur reflects that "being a member of the dance team since freshman year has been one of my most exciting and rewarding experiences... I have not only made lifelong friendships with everyone the on the team, but throughout four years dance team has helped me perfect my dance technique and beyond that taught me about dedication, commitment, leadership, and spirit."

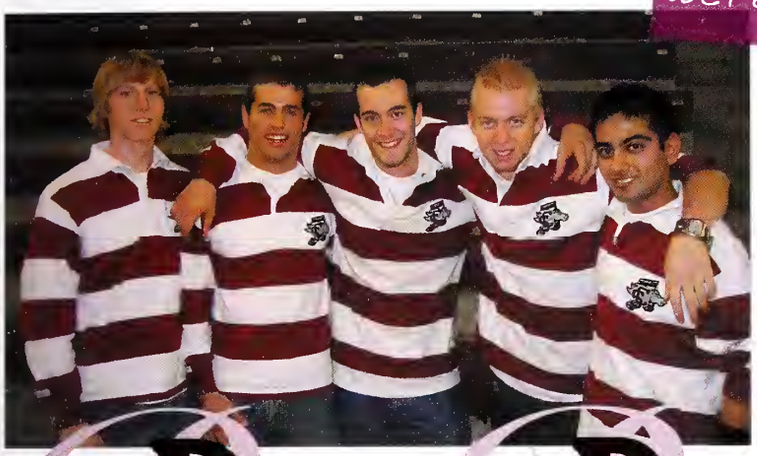
Cheerleading

THE GYM BUZZING WITH EXCITMENT, RUFF RIDERS DECKED OUT FROM HEAD TO TOE in black, white and that all too familiar Bronco Red all hoping for one thing: adding another notch to the Bronco's victory belt. And who better to lead this bunch of rambunctious fans but the Santa Clara Cheerleaders. A squad of 16 undergraduate men and women, the Cheerleaders do their best to raise Bronco spirit on campus. Attending Soccer, Volleyball, Cross Country, Water-Polo, Basketball, Tennis, Baseball, and Softball events, the squad makes sure that each and every part of Bronco Athletics' has got spirit.

"The Cheerleaders make sure that each and every part of Bronco Athletics' has got spirit!"

"We're a big, loud, musical family!"



Pep Band

THE EXISTANCE OF THE PEP BAND PROGRAM rides on the shoulders of Seniors Andrew Willingham and Taylor Thorn. This official band for Santa Clara University Athletics did not exist four years ago. After a falling out of the previous Pep Band and a busy Athletic department with the wants, but not the means, of organizing such a band, these two ambitious students took it upon themselves to resurrect what most people now consider one of the best parts of Bronco Athletics. Pep band is individual amongst the spirit organizations as its members include not only undergraduate students but also a number of graduate students and Santa Clara University alumni. As a completely student run group, the aptly titled Bronco Band commits themselves to increasing the Bronco fans' spirit during the athletic events at which it participates by creating an entertaining and enjoyable environment. The Bronco Band works in conjunction with the Cheerleaders and the Dance Team in order to provide this fun environment to both pump up the team and get the Ruff Rider crowd behind them. With everything to be proud of given the success of this organization, Willingham comments: "We're all proud to be a part of the Santa Clara tradition. Pep Band is a great way for all of us to show our school spirit and have a great time. The people make it special – We're a big, loud, musical family!

"We're all proud to be a part of the Santa Clara Tradition. -Andrew Willingham '08"

Ruff Riders
Broncoholics

THE RUFF RIDERS HAVE CONTINUED TO BE NAMED THE LARGEST STUDENT organization on campus for years running. With 3,800 members in 2007-2008, the spirit club continues to grow in its ninth year. Not only are the Ruff Riders meant to increase school spirit, but the organization's main intention is to provide numerous opportunities for bringing students and the SCU community together. Ruff Riders hope to continue to form closer bonds between students who have similar kinds of school spirit. Besides, who would would not be proud to say they are a Santa Clara Bronco? The Ruff Riders welcome any Santa Clara University students to take part in free admission to all SCU regular season home athletic events as well as many other exclusive offers.

Fight for Santa Clara
The Bronco Fight Song

All hail to S.C.U.
Honor her prestige and fame,
Oh! Hold high those standards
As we go into this game.

Varsity fight for Santa Clara
Banners of red and white on high
No matter how great your foe team,
Let your motto be "to do or die"
Rah! Rah! Varsity team,
We are cheering for you,
Our gallant heros, sturdy, staunch, and true
Rember the right and might of the Red and white
When Santa Clara warriors fight,
For Victory, and our dear old S.C.U.

Then U. fight! Fight! for the Alma Mater we love,
Oh fight! Fight! and strength shall come from above,
We now acclaim your fame,
Rah! Rah! Rah!

Run it, Run it

Men & Women's Cross country

Dust begins to settle as the final runner turns the corner, out of sight. In the sport of cross country, being in the front during the race is far less important than finding your way to the top by the end of it. As Chris Sampson '11 puts it, "It's been hard...just staying back and trying to work my way up. But the cool thing is that [those] guys who used to beat me in high school, I'm beating them now." Sampson, coming in from Mater Dei High School, broke the standing Santa Clara Men's Team's Record for Freshmen at the Sundodger Invitational with a time of just 25:08 and has earned himself one of the top two spots on the teams roster. The Men's team, loaded with talented freshmen and sophomores, is dealing with saying goodbye to the seniors, but looking forward to the next few promising years. The women's team had a great season, finishing within the top five in five of their seven races. As the two seniors bid adieu to their four years of teamwork, sweat, tears, and adrenaline, Senior Blossom Marimpietri looks back on what she condsiders a life changing experience: "I have been fortunate to be blessed with such amazing teammates. The upperclassmen from my freshman year taught me as much as the freshmen did this year and I'm not exaggerating in the least to say that all of my teammates have made me a better person. They have been my best friends and also amazing role models, support systems, and confidants. And add to that a coach who has stood by me through brattiness and friendship. I have definitely changed for the better in college and I attribute that to having been surrounded by such dynamic, inspiring people".

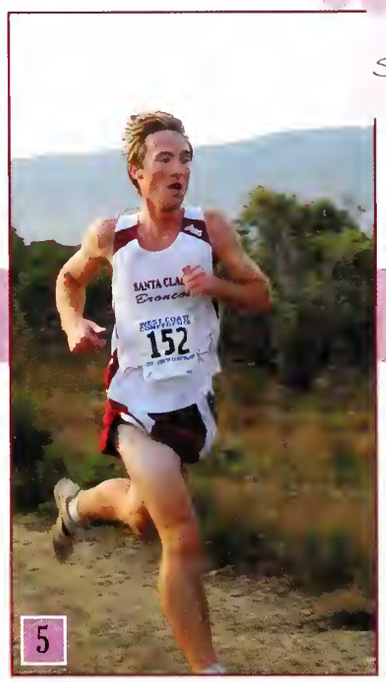
1 The Men's team gets their head in the game with a team huddle. With scores varying by only seconds, teamwork becomes one of a runner's best assets.

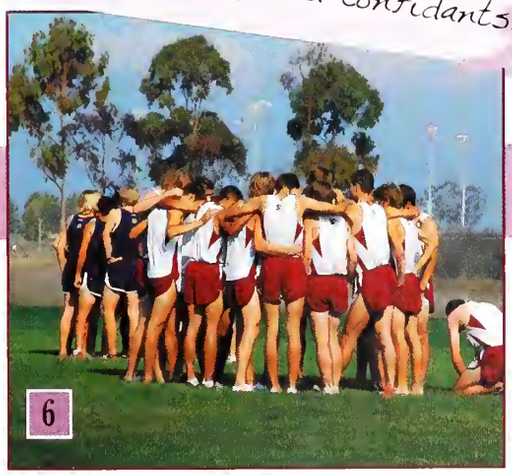
2 Sophomore Annie Murphy-Hagan keeps her focus through out the race. Since her Freshman year, Murphy-Hagan has been one of the Women's team's top runners for the past two seasons.

5 Senior A.J. Blumel pushes through the pain of the race to help his team place in the Top 15. The places of the first five runners are totaled to represent the team's score so it is especially important for runnners to run their best for their team.

6 The Men's team mentally prepares for their race, giving eachother that last minute pep-talk, hyping eachother up, and making sure each teammate is ready to do their best.

"They have been my best friends but also amazing role models, support systems, and confidants."





3 Junior Daniel Smith and Freshman Robert Reid match each other stride for stride as the race winds to a close.

4 The Women's team prepares to start their race. While they all start together, each teammate runs at her own pace during the race. This method gained the team much success including a 1st place victory at the first meet.

Men's Soccer

Goal after Goal, They're On A Roll

Mens soccer completed the regular season this year with a record of 5-1-2 followed by a 14 game winning streak after their first loss against Brown University. This years team has seen its fair share of tense moments, one of which came in a game tying goal with just forty seconds left in the game. During a home game at Buck Shaw Stadium the Broncos found themselves trailing by only a point. Senior Finance Major Peter Lowry made a goal tying kick with only 40 seconds left for Santa Clara. Head coach Cameron Rast commented on the goal tying kick by saying, "We were under pressure to get a goal and Peter (Lowry) really kept his cool on the free kick and sent a good ball into the box that found its way into the corner."

The soccer team this year also won its 10th West Coast Conference title with a 4-1 win agianst Saint Mary's. The win took place at home. Capitan Jamil Roberts remarked, that "We are happy to win in front of our fans. We didn't want to have to go up to Gonzaga and Portland needing a win. The team played hard tonight and we got a great win." The teams competitiveness carried over this year in their game play.

> "Most everyone on our team has at least a few superstitions and rituals..."

Although it's fairly obvious that the teams performance was directly related to the amount of time the team spent practicing, some players attribute it more to the rituals that the members engage in before games. Seniors Matt Hatzke and Matt Marquess remarked that "whether it is as simple as a pre-game meal or as complex as the way you dress yourself before the game, most everyone on our team has at least a few superstitions and rituals." Whatever the reasons for the teams success this year, it has been quite an achievement.

Chioma Igwe is a senior from Belmont, California who grew up playing soccer, and as a mid-fielder, has helped the Broncos maintain a solid defense, and impressive record.

In her early Bronco career, freshman Maxine Goynes from Modesto, California, maintains her position as an award winning team defender.

Women's Soccer

A SOLID TEAM ON & OFF THE FIELD

BRONCO WOMEN BOAST ANOTHER successful season characterized by a 2-6-3 overall record and a 4-3-0 mark in the WCC. There is no doubt that this team is talented, and the players' many honors and recognitions only confirm that: Brittany Klein, Katherine Reynolds and Kiki Bosio were honored as All-West Region student-athletes along with Maxine Goynes and Kendra Perry who were also named to the All-Freshman team; Bosio was named to the All-WCC First Team and the NSCAA's All-West Second Team with teammates Tina Estrada, Chioma Igwe, and Katherine Reynolds; Meagan Snell received an All-WCC honorable mention. Clearly, Broncos have a winning team that led us to many victories, but for the teammembers, the experience was about much more than winning. "Playing under the lights at home [was] probaby the thing I will miss most. It's just something about walking on that field with your fans behind you and being so proud to be wearing that jersey" notes senior Chioma Igwe looking back on her soccer career. "No matter where we were or how many times we traveled, we always had so much fun. We made the most of our experience." With this talent and attitude, there is no doubt that this team is one that will not only stick together, but continute dominating on the field.

Jordan Angeli, c/o 2008

"At halftime, I was so pumped. My veins were pumping full of adrenilinie because I couldnt believe the effort and heart my teammates were laying out there on the field."

Women's Volleyball

Set For Sucess...

San Diego. Fourth set. Number one. Santa Clara, is down 20-28 to San Diego. Little by little, the score is tied 32-32. Junior Brittnay Lowe, gets a solo stuff block against San Diego. Michelle Luxton, a Junior Communications major on the team said, "It was unbelievable. It set us up for match point and got us the win. I'm sure I will remember that block for ages." Santa Clara's 2007 Womens Volleyball Team shattered school and conference records this season. The team finished 8-8 during the regular season with Santa Clara Senior, Caroline Walters, breaking the Santa Clara and West Coast Conference's all-time digs record. Caroline had a career total of 1,869 digs! Friend and teammate Anna Cmaylo commented, "Caroline breaking that record was just another testament as to why we are so lucky to have her on our team." The amount of time that the team spent training, traveling, and playing brought positive competitive results as well as long-lasting friendships. When asked about the team's relationships with one another Anna Cmaylo said, "When you share 20 hours a week as well as sweat, tears, and adrenaline with a group of 12 other girls, you form relationships that are unlike any other." Michelle Luxton commented on the team dynamic by saying, "One thing that our coach always tries to work with us on is to stop being so nice to each other while we're playing. He pushes us to not only have of a competitive edge with one another but to be competitive with ourselves, which he says is critical in team sports." Three of the teams' seniors will be graduating next year, but the friendship that the team developed on the court will carry on into the next year.

Men's Basketball

101 POINTS AND COUNTING...

DOWN THE COURT, UP THE COURT—THE GAME of basketball is intense. The games have been close, leaving fans biting their nails at the very last second. With ten wins under their belt so far, the men's basketball team has high hopes for the WCC championship. One of their greatest accomplishments this season has been scoring 101 points against the Pepperdine Waves. The men's basketball team had not scored over 100 points since 1993.

This year, the team welcomed 10 newcomers, eight of whom are freshmen. The team is young, but with so many wins, fans can't tell the difference. Their expertise on the court is amazing. The support and the spirit of school have also helped the team to win most of their home games. At this point in time, they have almost surpassed the number of wins on the road compared to last year. This team keeps breaking old tradition and replacing it with newly achieved feats.

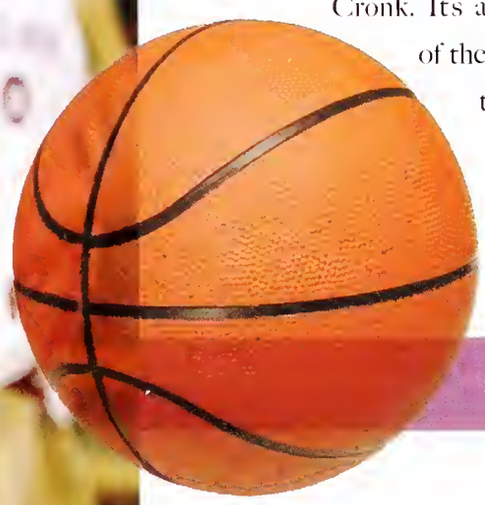
Women's Basketball

Striving for the Goal

Hard work is paying off for the women's basketball team with four wins in a row in mid-January. Their goal is to make it to the WCC Championship. The team is prepared to do what it takes to meet their goal. "The dynamic on the team this year is just so different. We have a mental toughness to us that is so important. This team has an attitude and love for the game that you can't teach," says Jennifer Gottschalk '08. "We've had big shoes to fill with all the seniors we lost last year, and I think we have been doing a tremendous job of that," says Chandice Cronk '08.

Energy levels are high. The team is eager and ready as the WCC championship approaches. Each game has been a different experience. "My favorite game was beating LMU on their home court. The seniors on the team have never beat LMU in L.A., and we had been on a four-game losing streak when we met them. It was sweet revenge!" says Cronk.

Ever wonder what has kept these seniors playing for the past four years? "I love how much fun we have on and off the court. We spend so much time together, but even when we don't have to, we still want to! I also love the attitude our team has about winning and losing. It makes this team so fun," says Gottschalk. "I love how basketball can bring together people with so many different backgrounds, cultures, ethnicities, etc., simply for the love of putting a ball through a hoop," says Cronk. It's all for the love of the game and the team.



Jennifer Gottschalk '08 leaps into the air for a basket.

Men's Crew

Competition and Discipline

Row at 6am at the Lexington Reservoir. Temperatures range from the low 20's to the high 30's during the winter. Nothing can stop Men's Crew. The team's competitive nature keeps them motivated throughout their practices and workouts. David Merselis '08 says, "The main thing I love about the crew team is the competition. Everyday we go head-to-head against each other with the sole focus of becoming the best." That constant competition has built and strengthened friendships among the team members. "After spending all day trying to beat each other at anything and everything, a great sense of respect is developed amongst all of us. Our friendships then reach a point where we'd do almost anything for each other," says Merselis. "It's this idea of building lifelong friendships with one another that initially inspired me to join crew, and is now the inspiration that keeps me going during the most challenging moments of my year and our season." In the past four years, the crew team changed drastically. Head coach, Weislaw Kudja, brought a new outlook to the program with his vast experiences with rowing and coaching. "The levels of dedicated rowers as well as the general interest in the program has risen dramatically since Weislaw's arrival," says Merselis. The team's biggest accomplishment so far was their turnout in Boston at the Head of the Charles regatta. "We went this fall with the mission to make an impression on the field, and that is exactly what we did! We finished in the top 20 in a field of 70 teams," says Merselis. "As a result, we have very high hopes for the upcoming sprint season."

Andrew Schneider '10 leads the team in a quick break.

The Importance of Commitment

Women's Crew

How do they do it? Waking up for practice at the crack of dawn for morning crew practice would be a lot of work. And the women that comprise of Santa Clara University's crew team would agree. Although the effort seems stressful, the women's team is always looking for the chance to go rowing. Even after their first day off from a week of practice and racing, the women's crew team still desires to be back out on the water. The weeks are intense, to say the least, but the Broncos have learned that working through changes make them strive harder every day. The women's crew team must have a strong sense of how teamwork really feels. With a team that continues to grow every year, Santa Clara University's Women's Crew has become an increasingly popular activity and long term commitment. Gabby Alexander, a sophomore, says that "Over the past years, crew has become the most rewarding activity I have ever participated in. I have learned how to motivate myself more than ever before." Rowing keeps the girls in shape and even teaches them to never quit. Even in icy wind and storming rain, as is the case for many of the girls' events, they push through and keep on getting in the water. Working through and overcoming challenges such as these is the reason why the women's crew will continue to grow even stronger in the years to come.

Calling the Shots

Women's Tennis

After a long summer of hard work and practice, a relaxing fall retreat in Santa Cruz, and a successful pre-season, the SCU Women's Tennis team knew it was going to be a good year. The Broncos spent their summers training with "endless sprints, long runs, and numerous tournaments, 'cough, cough'..." says Samantha Georgino and Meghan Madden. Georgino, a junior, and Madden, a sophomore, have made great strides for the team in previous years and have developed techniques for dealing with such intense training. During the fall, the girls stuck to strict practices and workout routines. Midnight Madness session, including training from 10 pm to 12 am, is always "a little past bedtime, but fun nonetheless." It seems that the women's tennis team certainly love to practice long hours. Even on their retreat in Santa Cruz, the Broncos did not take a break from the tennis mindset. They continued morning runs at 7 am along the beach and planned for their annual goals as a team.

At the beginning of the regular season in January, the team battled through more intense practices and rough matches. However, these difficulties pushed the girls to further reach their potential. The Broncos defeated UC Santa Cruz to start off a positive season. Head Coach Ben Cabell, recalled how good it felt after the team's first win: "It was great to be out on a nice day. It was nice to get our first win after those tough matches in the first part of the season." Not only was Santa Clara's defeat over UC Santa Cruz an accomplishment, but the matches played against Santa Cruz prepared the girls for the rest of the season. Cabell says that the hard work from training paid off in three set matches. Because the women's tennis team had put forth such great effort in training, their endurance enabled them to defeat their opponents in the longer matches. Also, these longer matches prepared them for the rest of the season. Overall, Head Coach Cabell believes that when teams play a little differently from what we're used to, it only benefits Santa Clara who continues to do "a great job of making adjustments" to different players.

The Woman's Tennis team welcomed new and old faces for this year's season. "Midnight Madness" is how the team refers to their late-night practices, which last from 10 p.m. to 12 a.m.

Men's Tennis

Love Means Nothing

Men's tennis player Charles Burke has been playing tennis since his sophomore year in high school. He has seen the team develop quite a bit over the last couple of years. Over this time period he has formed a close bond with his teammates. Burke has found that some of his closest friends have been on the tennis team, something his teammate Blane Shields believes as well. "I see them on a daily basis and you start to become family," says Shields. Besides becoming a group of best friends, they are extremely proud of the sport that they have chosen to pursue. When asked why he started playing tennis, Sheilds replied, "Tennis seemed to be the sport that I could use all of my abilities and talents at. It involved eye-hand coordination, speed, footwork, et. cetera." A team that takes pride in their sport and thinks of their teammates as best friends is bound to lead Santa Clara to success.

OUR FAVORITE BOYS IN SPEEDOS made very memorable and impressive strides this season. Their winning record and victories over some of their most bitter rivals created the perfect season for their veteran players and graduatings seniors. The combination of strong leadership from such players as Andrew Fitch, Josh Early, and Rob Callahan combined with the bright new freshmen talent from players like Nick Poggetti, Stephen Hobbs, and Mitch Klipa created the perfect team dynamic. As he each player discovered and developed their personal and team roles, they produced such performances like that against LMU, which strengthened and bolstered their team unity. The LMU game was an overtime thriller, but a few key steals and unbreakable goal-tendig secured their victory. The team's success will not go unrewarded, as their new regulation sized pool is under constrution, which will bring new competitors and even more spirited home games.

> "We've got a great coach, we've got a new pool, and we've got the talent. Now, we need to put in the time and the effort to take our game to the level it needs to be to beat the top teams in the nation."
> – Andrew Fitch

Driving It Up

Women's Water Polo kickes off the 2008 season with an 11-5 win against CS East Bay. Seniors Elizabeth Perry and Emily Bonk lead the team as captains this year. The team returns with many experienced and athletic players. "We have a lot returners from last year's team, and they have been practicing really hard during the start of the season," says Coach Keith Wilbur. "They played very well in their first game, but we have a lot more games to play. Our goal as a team is to win our conference championship, so we are going to continue to work hard and put ourselves in the best possible position to win WWPA's at the end of the year." In regards to thier hopes for the season, "we are doing well so far. We have had tough losses but seemed to bounce back because we have had some great wins. I think we are all looking forward to see how the season turns out in the end after conference," says Co-captain Liz Perry '08. In addition to impressive performance, the team expresses their feelings toward their loyal fans. So far, "senior day was one of my favorite games this year. It was great to see all the fans come out and support us. We also played really well after the first few minutes and came back from being down by 3 to win 8-6 which is great for us." These wins are great example of the team's cohesiveness. Perry says "I love that we all get along so well. We hang out in and out of the pool and I think it really helps our team chemistry. It definitely makes going to practice more fun when it means you get to hang out with 20 of your friends." After an encouraging start, the team continued to perform and finished strong with 11 wins and only 5 losses.

Men's & Women's Track

Going the Distance

Competitive Track & Field can be a mental battle as well as a physical one. Many of Santa Clara's outdoor track team members note that they keep their minds fairly blank so they can focus on their performance, while others mention thinking about a song while they run. Track & Field is seldom considered as a team sport but as Michael Delatenti points out, "The friendships I have made on the team will last far longer than the 4 years I have spent here." Noelle Lopez elaborates on this phenomenon by pointing out that, "When I came on my recruiting visit to Santa Clara, the team was what really brought me here." She follows by saying, "Even though things have changed and will continue to change drastically over time, it's nice to be part of a group of people that come together because they're so dedicated to our sport and to each other." Despite its highly individual nature, Santa Clara's Track team has managed to produce athletes who not only realize their individual potential but their team's potential as well. Many of the team members point to their head coach, Tom Service, for his ability to cater to both the player's and the team's needs. Noelle Lopez notes that her coach has, "been really flexible and understanding in creating a personalized running program for me to run my best while avoiding injury." The majority of the team this year has already competed in the Fall so the team is expected to place well in several of the major competitions.

New Year, New Coach

At home base, Ashley Blier '08 intensely concentrates on the softball as it approaches her.

The softball team embarked upon their 2008 season with a new head coach, Lisa Mize, and a younger team. Four experienced seniors lead the pack: Ashley Blier, Jerrica Castagno, Maggie Godfrey, and Jackie Morales. Castagno and Morales pitch for the team while Blier and Chavez play the offensive side. The underclassmen of the team have enthusiasm and athletic skills.

> "Consistency, Solid Fundamentals and Keeping a Positive Attitude make us a much improved team."

Although the team had a rough start, they have high expectations for the rest of the season. " I am looking forward to an exciting season with this year's team," says coach Lisa Mize. "Consistency, solid fundamentals and keeping a positive attitude should make us a much improved team." Senior Ashley Blier notes that "the season got off to a rocky start, but we are improving every day. We have a tough pre-season schedule playing teams like Cal, Stanford, UCLA, & ASU, but this is going to prepare us for our conference play. I think we are going to do very well in conference," says Ashley Blier '08. The team has a hopeful outlook for the season. On the team, According to Jackie Morales '08, "the best experience this season has been really getting to know the freshmen, and specifically bonding with the young pitchers on the pitching staff. I really enjoy the friendships I've made and developed throughout these 4 years and I am glad that the girls that keep coming to the program fit in well." Strong morale and lasting friendships for all members of the team will surely keep this group of talented players successful in the years to come.

Whammie!!

Men's Baseball Steps Up to Bat

THIS YEAR'S MEN'S baseball team was well equipped for their very extensive and exhaustive schedule. Though the team consisted of both new freshmen faces and veterans, they remained unified and dedicated. Each player was able to establish their role and purpose that contributed to the team as a whole. The new facilities at Schott Stadium have been very beneficial also, especially the intricate lighting system that allows the team to simulate night games during practice.

> "1699- The total number of miles it takes to get to Omaha, the location of the college world series.
> - Gabriel Alcantar"

As the seniors finished out their last season, they had many memories and successes to propel them through their final games. One of the most memorable being their multiple defeats over Stanford at their sunken diamond. The commitment of this year's team created proved just as successful.

Born Driven

Men & Women's Golf

Who ever said that girls cannot keep up with the boys? Men and women's golf has been a joint adventure for the Santa Clara Broncos. Senior Corey Utsurogi has said, "while all trips are a blast, ones that the whole team travels to are by far the best. The entire Bronco clan caravanned/ "burbed" down to Cal Poly last Saturday for our final event of 2007." After months of preparation and practice, Santa Clara University's golf teams for the 2007-2008 season started their seasons in early Fall. Tanned and toned, the men and women's players adjusted to a new year of set goals, through intense individual training and teamwork. In the end, their work definitely paid off. The women finished their fall season fourth at the Cal Poly Invitational. And they expect for the excellent tradition to continue. This year, women's golf signed two new recruits for the future years. As for the men's team, the Broncos had much success this past year including remaining in the top ten at the CordeValle Collegiate in the fall and also placing close to the top at their very own SCU invitational. Both teams have a senses of commitment that are above the rest. This trait is what will continue to make Santa Clara's men and women's golf teams a praiseworthy duo for years to come.

Men's: Alex Bon, Jimmy Cacho, Tyler Ichikawa, Jonathon Keane, Tim Lynch, Kellen Moss, Blair Myers, Shaun Pienkos, Scott Travers, Head Coach: Robert Miller

Women's: Hilaire Fouts, Jenny Nelson, Jamie Nonaka, Katie Sharpe, Katherine Suarez, Erin Sullivan, Jennifer Sun, Miki Ueoka, Corey Utsurogi, Head Coach: Polly Schulze

Is that Bucky? Close enough, these golf pros keep their clubs covered in style with an ever spiritous Bucky look-a-like. Bronco to go? You betcha!

"Even though we play 18 holes 3-4 times a week and practice on the other days, we find time to have fun in our hectic schedule...
-Alex Bon"

All of the hard work throughout the week and entire year really pays off for the men's and women's golf teams.

Intramural Sports

EXERCISE, MINGLE & HAVE FUN

BASKETBALL, BADMINTON, SOCCER, tennis—you name it, intramural sports has it. Students have the opportunity to play against their classmates. Everyone is welcome. It's the best way for a busy college student to take a break and relax. Sure, you can play sports in Malley whenever you want without signing up, but participating in an intramural has its advantages. "Competing with someone makes me try harder," says Ake Kanokkul '08, who is defending his title as ping-pong champion this year. Preston Jeung '09 has also participated in a variety of sports, such as ping-pong, basketball, badminton, football, and soccer. Why so many intramural sports? "I can play competitive sports with a group of friends. I have always played sports when I was young and it is fun to play a game of basketball, ping-pong, or any other sport to release some stress from all the school work," says Jeung. It's also a time to socialize and meet new people. Exercise is a plus! No coach or practices required. "[We are] good at getting things done. Don't need someone there to push us. We come together to play," says Nick Pudjiadi '08, who has been playing badminton and tennis since freshman year. Aside from that, intramural sports bring new memories to add to your college years. Jeung recalls his best experience, saying "I played DII intramural basketball with kids from my dorm. Before an intramural playoff basketball game, we walked to the gym discussing our zone defense. During the game, our fans were chanting for us to win the game. We were tied with two minutes to play and one of our teammates, John Fisher, made an incredible fade away shot to give our team the lead." Compete, mingle, exercise, make memories, have fun—it can't get any better than this.

You name it, intramural sports has it. it can't get any better than this.

Everyone is welcome. It's the best way for a busy college student to take a break and relax.

"I can play competitive sports with a group of friends."
-Preston Jeung '09

Club Sports...

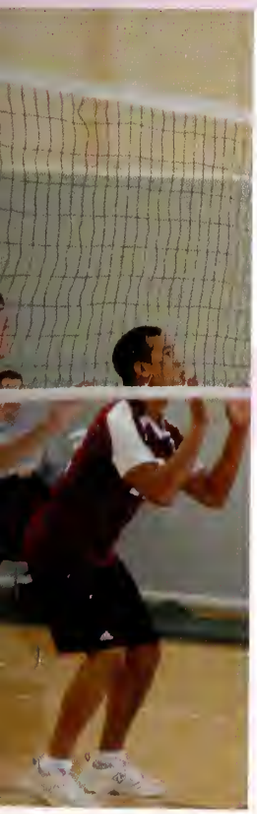
Shotokan Karate

The Shotokan Karate club has been a part of the Santa Clara University club sports scene for over 40 years. Shotokan is a type of martial arts that is based on Japanese style karate. The club is lead by two primary instructors, Sensei Joe Garcia and Sensei Dennis Clima. The club is meant to help its participants develop skills for self-defense, tournaments, and self-defense. Member Eric Edem says, "Our overarching goal of course is self improvement, discipline, and to have fun. We are attempting to master our art." But as Eric also mentioned, the club does more than just give you a mastery of the art. "My grades have improved since I started as well as my ability to commit and make decisions." It has become apparent that everyone from the club is taking away something far greater than just the skills of Shotokan Karate. The club seeks to help students achieve their goals by putting their minds to it.

Men's Lacrosse

The Men's Lacrosse Club has been around for over 25 years. The team has managed to seamlessly integrate itself as part of Santa Clara. In talking to anyone on the team, it is apparent that the real goal of the club is to have fun playing the game that they love, while at the same time making lasting friendships. According to one of the three team captains, Phillip Donnici, this years goal "is to go to the national tournament in Dallas and win the MCLL (Men's Collegiate Lacrosse League) championship." The club is very much dedicated to succeeding in tournaments, usually practicing between six to eight hours a week.

Men's Volleyball



The Men's Volleyball team has established themselves as a force to be reconked with again and again. The club competes with nine other colleges in the Bay Area. The Men's Volleyball Club encourages people to try out no matter their skill level. Balancing academies with Volleyball is also important to the club. The club wants students to realize that volleyball is part of becoming a whole person. The team members practice as much as possible. Their practice pays off as they are one of only seven teams that make the Gold Division of Division-1 for the past three years.

...Club Sports

Behind the Scenes

There are a total of eighteen club sports on campus this year. The club sports program consists of competitive sports teams that play against other universities. Also, the program has clubs that have been around for years along with clubs that have been newly created. For instance, Men's Hockey was created in 2006 while Men's Rugby has been around since the early 1900's. Additionally, club sports strive to be highly competitive. Women's Lacrosse has qualified for the National Championships in the last three years and continues to strive for that this year.

Katrina Gould '10 has really enjoyed Women's Rugby. "This season has been really great. We finally have enough girls to have a full team every game, and everyone just loves to be out there playing," says Gould. "We've worked really hard at practice and have improved a lot. Each game we're getting better. It's a great feeling to know you've played a solid game, hitting hard and running hard. I love playing rugby and can't wait to get back on the field to tackle some girls and score some trys!"

President Salman Shariat '08 and Vice President Patrick Haggerty '09 have enjoyed Men's Rugby, also known as SCUTS, Santa Clara University's Touring Side. "The SCUTS have worked very hard in trying to resurrect a program that had much success in the past. With the support of our great alumni and the attention to detail of our coaching staff, the SCUTS have had a great season," says Shariat. Haggerty says, ""The SCUTS have had a phenomenal season this year. We contribute our ranking of 4th in the nation to our team's hard work, our alumni support, and Invisalign's (Team Sponsor) contribution to the development of our team."

Whether the season is going up or down, club sports also have a strong community to fall back on. Each team builds long-lasting friendships due to the amount of time the team players spend together in practicing and competing. All are welcomed to having new people join.

With 5,000 undergraduates and just over 3,000 graduate students, there is quite an array of faces around campus; we show aspects of our personalities everyday. Our homes are far and wide: west coast, east coast, middle of nowhere, and overseas, but here we are together. Although we may see many students sporting sweatshirts that represent their hometowns, we see even more sweatshirts from Santa Clara University, representing our home away from home. We all come together at SCU. We have friends halfway around the globe and friends who live 10 minutes away from our hometown, and we are brought together through our varying interests. We all bring our unique personalities to our classrooms, to our dorms, and to our organizations of which we are involved on campus. We carrying these personalities everywhere we go. Our personalities, different though they may be, fit together as well as the pieces of a puzzle to unite us on campus as one SCU community.

Congratulations the lovely women of Kappa Alpha Theta

and the Class of 2008

sisterhood

TRUST

Respect

Loyalty

Honesty

So wherever we go and whatever we do let us live with this rememberance in our hearts....

That we are sisters

Congratulations ladies! You have been such great leading members for our chapter. There's no way we can forget the girls we love best. We can't wait to see what great things you will do from here! Theta For a Lifetime!

Theta Love,
The Members of the Eta Lambda Chapter

Christine Macasieb

Eleanor Roosevelt said, "The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams." You are certainly a testimony of this. Your perseverance to go after your dreams inspires me. Congratulations!
Love, Stal

Little Sister,
I am so proud of you and your accomplishments! You have become someone I not only take pride in, but someone I look up to and admire. Your potential is infinite. The possibilities are endless. With you, even the stars are within reach. Congratulations Nini!!!
Reach for the stars,
Kuya

Oh Banini,
All I have to say is that you are the best godsister anyone could have! Our memories are just timeless and unforgettable to us, even from the moment you cried throughout my entire baptism 21 years ago to now. You have always been THE older sister I never had and the one I've always looked up to. Now, I can go on forever talking about you and our crazy antics, but I won't because that'd take up the entire yearbook. So I'll just end by saying that I'm SO incredibly proud of you for getting through this crazy college ride! I knew you could get through all the ups and the downs because you're just this little engine that totally could (or would at least force themself no matter what haha!). Anyways, congratulations again and even though you're technically all grown up, I know that you're still the funny, crazy, giddy little school girl deep down inside! Love always, your cheesy godsister, Tobbie

We watched you do your first PC scribble with Paintbrush, then your first camping checklist on Excel when you were 10. We watched you stress out and pull all-nighters; we watched you get over hurdles and do all sorts of silly things--to this day :) We watched the thoughtful things you do and how you put others' needs before yours. We watched you make us the proud parents with the way you are, your hard work, and accomplishments. We watched you reach for that star...and now we want to see you take off with it...shine... and make your dreams come true!!! Congratulations to you, our well-deserving daughter!
Love, Mom and Poppa

Congratulations, Nini!
This is a great achievement in your life and we are so proud of you. Not many people in this world can achieve what you did, so take pride and pleasure in it. You're a smart, talented, beautiful, passionate individual who will go far in life. We wish you the best of luck as you embark on this journey called "adulthood." It's a rollercoaster full of highs and low, twists and turns, but always remember to smile and enjoy the ride. The business world will address you as "Christine," but we hope you'll still let us call you Nini. :)
Cheers to you!
With Love, Tito Rollie, Tita Marilyn, Randy & Roma

Tito Rollie
& Tita Marilyn

Christiney!
Despite my ability to articulate my thoughts into coherent sentences most of the time, I can't begin to encompass the past four years of our friendship into a few well chosen lines. What I do know is that it has been a blessing to see you grow into your best self. Our journey together, full of laughter, tears, success, hardship, lessons learned and wisdom gained, is just beginning and it fills me with comfort and hope that I will be taking the journey with you. You've worked so hard and achieved so much, enjoy it. Congratulations!
Love you, sister!
Capule

Hey Christiney,
Thanks for being my other half, you've been such a great friend! I hope you think of me every time you get a pair of cute shoes!
Love, Your Fairy Godmother--Hilary

DHORE!!! I feel so lucky to know you as well as I do. You are such a wonderful person and a great friend. Despite the fact that everyone thought we were crazy everytime we saw each other in Kenna, I loved every minute of it. You brighten my day and I love you!
~Emily~

CONGRATS NINI!
CUSINI LAWRENCE

NINI,
WE ALL KNOW YOU WILL MAKE IT AND WISH YOU SUCCESS ON ALL YOUR ENDEAVOR. WILL ALWAYS BE PRAYING FOR YOU AS USUAL. CONGRATS.
LOVE, PAPA & MAMA

Nini,
Congratulations! We are all proud of you. Now it looks like we have someone for our accounting questions. God Bless
-Tito Willie, Tita Marilo, Chinkie & Bac

Christine,
Blessings to you my Ballerina for graduating with honors. I am sure you are always welcome in my life.
Love n' hugs
I love you
Miss Judi

Congratulations Partner!
I'm so excited to go home now. Please don't forget to take me.
Mumble

Nini,
congratulations on all your achievements!
Best wishes --
We love you,
Tita Jenny & Tito Henry

Mr. Christine,
WOW! How fast the 4 years passed. You should be very proud of this. Congratulations on your graduation. Wishes for you the best of luck on whatever you venture. You are in the future. Stay well and keep relaying the good news in your free time.
Love,
Mr. Christian

Christine:
Congratulations! Soon you will be entering "life" as a working career woman. Don't forget the fun side of life. Your sweet ways are so endearing. I shall always treasure our times together - esp. our East Coast trip! The sweet girl who taught me to braid her hair
Malou

Nini,
We are all very proud of you. We know you will continue to succeed in your endeavors ...Vince, Herrick, Hervi, JC

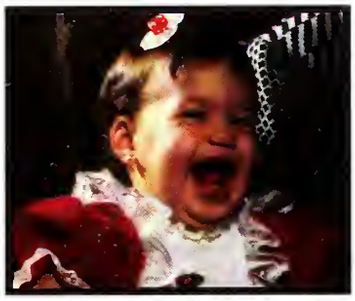
Tito Andy & Tita

Yvette Mendell

Congratulations Yvette! Four years ago began a journey that has taken you many places. Watching you grow from our little girl into a beautiful, caring, charming, accomplished young lady has made us extremely proud. Your positive attitude, smile, laughter, leadership, creativity and generousity are inspiring to those around you. Believe in yourself, adventure with enthusiasm, meet each challenge and make your dreams come true. May life embrace you with all the love, happiness, success and great opportunities you so richly deserve.

You have always told us what has made your college experience was your friends which are really more like your family. You were blessed enough to have three families; your sorority sisters, your London soulmates and most importantly, your roommates. Without which SCU would not be the same... Your life would not be the same. Thanks for the memories.

Daniela Veronica Nolasco



Congratulations Daniela

Our shining star! From the start, you've truly shown such great determination in your sparkling brown eyes! And now you sit so way up high...Like a diamond lighting up our sky! From SPSV to SCU, You've truly come so very far! We just couldn't be prouder of our twinkling little star! Keep on shining baby! We adore you,
Daddy, Mom David, DeeDee, and Dino

Gabriel Covarrubias

Congratulations Gabe!
Your family is so proud of you and all that you have accomplished. May God continue to shower you with his most choice blessings. WE LOVE YOU!

Mom and Dad, Zac and Audrianna, Nana,
J.P., Uncle Scott, Tyler and Stacy.

Nicholas Alvarez

Nick,
From Happy Day Preschool to Santa Clara University, from studying abroad at the University of Ghana to Camel Trekking in Burkina Faso, Paragliding and Shark Cage Diving in South Africa, Barkada Board, Dodge Ball Tournament, Dunne, Swig, Bellomy Ghetto, Boo Radley, performing in SCU Barkada's Philippino Cultural Night wearing only a bahag (loincloth)...AMAZING, that's what you are. We are confident that SCU has given you an excellent start to the rest of your life. We love you and are so very proud of you. God bless and guide you always.
Congratulations!
With love, Mom & Dad

"Fact. Bears eat beets. Bears. Beets. Battlestar Galactica."
Love you bro. Congrats :)
Love, Steph

Courtney Taylor Magner

We are so very proud of you and want to congratulate you on several accomplishments! You have worked very hard and your academic achievements are amazing. But equally amazing are your contributions to the University, especially to the faith community of Santa Clara! It has been a pleasure to watch you grow into the passionate, caring, young woman you have become.

Elizabeth Stanislawski

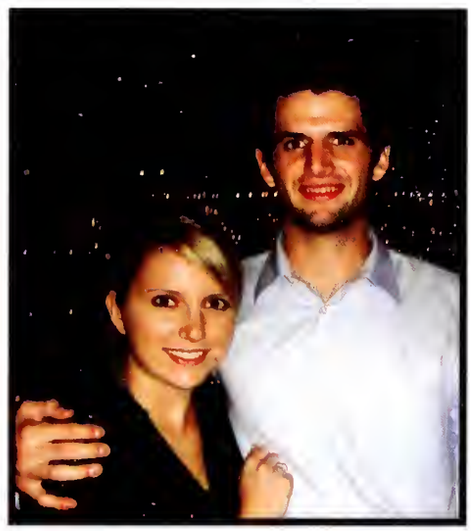
Elizabeth:

You light up our world with your sunny smile and joy of life;

Congratulations upon graduating from Santa Clara--from starting in the dorms, working at the de Saisset Museum to your semester abroad in Greece, you will have great memories of exotic places and wonderful friends to treasure.

Now you are off on the next wonderful adventure in your exciting life...We are so proud of you!

All Our Love,
Mom, Dad, and Brandon



Andrew Hunter Stevens

Andrew,
Congratulations!!
We are so proud of you.
We Love You!
Mom, Dad and Megan

Randahl Capurro

Your determination and hard work during the past four years laid the groundwork for all that you have achieved as a student and an athlete. More importantly, you are an incredible daughter and friend. We are so very proud of you. Be happy, follow your dreams and enjoy life to it's fullest!
CONGRATULATIONS!
We Love You, Mom & Eric

David Nagele

Dear David,

We are so proud of all that you have accomplished these last four years at SCU and of the extraordinary man you have become. Always remember that your family's love and support will accompany you every step of the way as you embark on your future endeavors.

Love Always,
Mom & Rebecca

Katelyn Silverwood

Katelyn,
Congratulations on your graduation! You are truly our inspiration. Your hard work and determination to overcome your obstacles has finally paid off. Now go and shine your bright light for everyone to see.

"Give the world the best you have and the best will come back to you."
-Mother Theresa

God Bless You,
Love, Dad, Mom, Jimmy,
Carly and Brady

Jeffrey D. Lombard

Congratulations Jeff! You have worked hard for this moment and we are extremely proud of you! At times we know it was difficult managing all your commitments with Bronco baseball and academics, but you were relentless in your pursuit of both. Take time to remember those accomplishments and seize the opportunities that are before you now. Your life is full of promise--trust what you know to be true and step confidently into your future. Be true to yourself, persistent in your pursuits and remain compassionate with those around you. The blessing of being your parents has been far beyound our dreams. You are a unique and wonderful young man. Remember love is the essence of life--the more you give the more you have.
We love you,
Mom, Dad, Matt & Megan

Jessica Reimer

Jess,

You're cruisin' now!

Congratulations!

"The Boss

Summing up a year is close to impossible. To try and encapsulate every feeling, thought, event, or memory of a year is the tall order that I feel is our duty as a yearbook staff to fill. Personally, I think we did it with style.

As the year ended last year, I said good-bye to graduating seniors, my 8th floor Swig experience, and the label of freshman and made the automatic switch to "sophomore status". As simple, straightforward, and generic as this might be, I found myself facing more than just the usual challenges of the "sophomore slump", applying for study abroad, and finding that perfect job to put on your resume. I faced the seemingly huge task of leading and directing a yearbook staff to make a kick-ass book that would go down in history not only as my legacy, but as a legacy of the fantastic staff that created it and the memories created by each and every member of this school.

When I accepted this job, I thought I knew what I was getting myself into. Yearbooks are not a new concept to me but as we started brainstorming theme ideas I was surprised to find myself scared and nervous for how were going to make this book work. I needn't have worried. From the first deadline I realized that this intelligent, immensely skilled, and creative group was unique. They say actions speak louder than words and these pages speak louder than anything that I could ever say. Each designer gave a piece of themselves to these pages. This book holds more than just stats and information, it reflects life at Santa Clara University, it serves as a record of both new traditions and old ones which we have made our own.

This book is not just about the 15 committed members of The Redwood staff. Each and every page is a representation of Santa Clara's community as a whole. From Pep Band to SCCAP programs to intramural teams, graduating seniors, new freshmen, transfer students, juniors who study abroad, and those all too wonderful access card pictures from freshman orientation, it takes every student at Santa Clara to make a book like this happen.

> "We interpret this experience in different ways, make it our own, and in that way I argue that WE DEFINE TRADITION"

My perspective is of that of a sophomore, smack dab in the middle of this whole experience. But whether you're a senior, worrying about the trials and tribulations of living in the real world outside of the Santa Clara bubble or spinning your wheels ready to high tail it out in to the world, or a freshman completing your first year of college, you're part of this experience and you're a part of the traditions at SCU. Every student has their own perspective and sees tradition through their own eyes. Each year we put our own spin on it. This year hasn't been totally easy for anyone, there have been late nights, early mornings, midterms, papers, and just plain old bad days. But at the end of it all, the year was beautiful and I am proud of it. I am proud of the memories and traditions that this year leaves for future students. Each and every one of the many aspects of Santa Clara make us unique and memorable and in their own way connects us as a university, a campus, and a community. From naming houses to day parties to a brand new library, we leave in our wake traditions specific to us, to our experience and these traditions will not be forgotten.

I sit here at my desk writing and I realize that some things will never change. In two months I say good-bye as more seniors graduate as they always will and face coming back from study abroad next year to a new freshman class looking younger than ever as they always do. In some ways the cycle of college seems monotonous, following the track from freshman through senior. It seems then, that Tradition Defines US. But I know that when I am looking back as a senior, as many of you might be doing right now, there is no one track, one experience we all have. We interpret this experience in different ways, make it our own, and in that way I argue that WE Define Tradition. I know that this book, this staff, this idea make my mark on this university and I couldn't be more proud of how we've done it. Thank you to the staff, the school, the students, and all of those people that have kept me going so far. It's been a blast and I can't wait to see what we do next!

Staff Notes

through our eyes

Within two deadlines, I spent multiple late nights copying and pasting, copying and pasting... when will I ever be able to flow, just flow?!? Eclectic is our group, but we made one fabulous piece of SCU history! Listening to the Bell Brothers performing above me at the Bronco, watching movies with Libby while creating mug pages, and of course having lovely visitors grace our room with their presence and entertainment will never be forgotten... maybe that should go in the yearbook, so I won't have to remember it either... that's all I have for ya!

– Lauren Befort

I've had such a great time working on this book. I loved seeing the finished pages as they were all slowly taped up on the wall in Room 12. The other staff members are amazing people and so good at what they do. It's hard to consider it my job because I enjoyed every aspect of it so much.

– Kelsey Sadler

As alway, cheers to Saint Clare for another successful yearbook. I'm proud of you. No, really, stop. You're too much. Stop, you're gonig to make me get emotional. I mean, yeah, we fell during the hard times, like the famine in the candy drawer, but we got right back on that Bronco. Yee haw. We possibly had the sexiest yearbook team to date. And you know what that means: one sexy yearbook! Yee haw Saint Clare, yee haw.

– Jennifer Heap

Being on the yearbook staff was amazing because I met fabulous people and managed to get pushed outside of my comfort zone. I loved going to events all across campus with a huge camera and getting to capture the action whether it was a sports game, pumpkin carving, or band night in the bronco. So much happened this year, and I hope that by looking through this amazing book you are able to remember all the good times as well as see something you might have missed. Maybe you'll even be inspired to reach outside of your comfort zone for next year and try something new.

– Emily Fong

I'm one of the newbies, but so far there hasn't been too much hazing. I mean, the truth is we have an amazing, generous team. We have Monday meetings and every one of those five minutes we share is pretty awesome. Seriously, yearbook is more fun than it is work and, as a photog, I now actually have a reason to go to events I should be going to anyway.

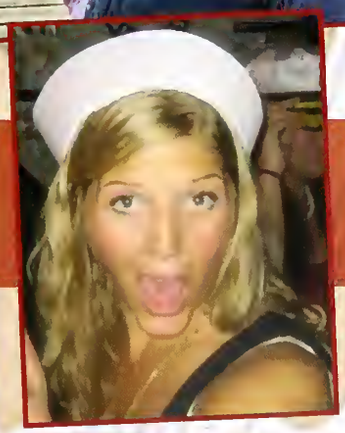
– Katrina Tsao

"Wait...when are my office hours?"
"If you cant remember it...look in the yearbook"
"It's all about the deadlines..."

– Benito VanAnda

It has been such a blessing to be a part of the yearbook this year. Though I was frequently the one working last minute on my copies and page designs, I could not have asked for a better way to spend all of those boring eekday afternoons. Overall, due to everyone's hard work, he yearbook turned out to be amazing. Thanks to all of the Redwood staff. Hope you all enjoy it!

– Laura Harding



Working on the Redwood staff as a designer has been one of the best experiences I have had at Santa Clara. From late nights to early mornings, working deadline after deadline, I've poured all of my time, energy, and most of all creativity into this book. This is why I'm an accounting major. Anyway, cherish this book. Maybe not today, maybe not tomorrow, but someday you will be able to look back and realize that your memories will forever be encapsulated in this book.
